

CITIZENS BANK HAS NEW CURRENCY DISPLAY

FIRST SHOWING OF NEW MONEY ANNOUNCED BY BIG BANK HERE

The Citizens National Bank of Cameron has received for display a set of the New United States paper currency, the first to be issued by the government and which will be placed in general circulation about the middle of July 1929.

The new currency having arrived at the bank early this week, came ahead of anticipated date and no advance invitation to attend the exhibit could be given. The bank through its officers extends to the public a cordial invitation to attend the display of this new currency and to see the new designs and sizes of the money.

Included in the display, according to Oxsheer Smith, president of the bank, are the new ten, five, two and one dollar bills. The new size is considerably smaller than the currency which has been in circulation for the past fifty years or more and will displace the old currency as rapidly as the old bills are worn out and retired from circulation.

Each new bill of any denomination ranging from one to ten thousand dollar bills, unlike the old currency, will bear the same portrait. It is explained that the $2 bills will all bear the portrait of Jefferson and all the $100 bills will bear the portrait of Franklin. The $1 bills will have the portrait of Washington.

This distinctive feature of the new money will help tellers to avoid confusion in the counting of currency. Every bill will be the same and may be distinguished immediately from the others by the photo.

Besides the convenience in size and appearance the government will save millions each year in the matter of paper and ink.

The Citizens National Bank is advertising the display of the new currency in this issue of The Herald and you are invited to visit the bank and see the new money.

83 GRADUATES FROM THE SEVENTH GRADE

AWARDS MADE FOR VARIOUS ATTAINMENTS IN THE DEPARTMENTS

Eighty-three students were graduated from the seventh grade this year at exercises held Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock at the Adair Henderson Auditorium.

Miss Helen Flinn played the professional as the class entered and then the invocation was given by Viola Sustek, a member of the class. The entire group sang "The Eyes of Texas," after which Ray Burke Jr., second highest honor student, delivered the salutatory address. An annual custom was observed when Maide Watson on behalf of the class presented its parting gift to the school, a picture from one of the masters. Julian Freeman, who announced the numbers of the program, also gave the class review and this was followed by a song, "The Evening Bells," by eight members of the class: Jane Tyson, Beulah Collier, Maide Watson, Virginia Ledbetter, Julian Freeman, Ray Burke, Jr., Maide McDermott and John Watson, Jr.

Dr. John Denson, representing the American Legion, presented to the two students, boy and girl, of the class who received the greatest number of votes in a contest in which five qualifications, honor, courage, scholarship, leadership and service, were factors considered. These medals were won by Julian Freeman and Louise Owens. In making these awards Dr. Denson said that the American Legion sponsored the contest in an attempt to encourage the youth of America, and that it was conceived after the close of the World War when it was discovered that so many of the soldiers were lacking in education, honor, courage, leadership and physical efficiency.

Louise Owens, first honor student, delivered the valedictory address, after which Mrs. W. O. Triggs, member of the Cameron Board of Education, addressed the class and awarded diplomas and certificates. In her preliminary words, Mrs. Triggs urged the students to continue their pursuit of education on into high school and to determine early what they are to do and be in life and work towards that end. "The world has always looked for leadership, and it is looking more now than ever," she declared. "There is no limit to the length to which boys and girls of America today can go if they only have the will to do it." As an example, she cited the man who recently became president of Chicago University at the age of thirty years, saying that he worked his way through college washing dishes.

TEXAS FIREMEN MEET GALVESTON JUNE 11TH

CHIEF THOMAS TO LEAD CAMERON MEN TO CONVENTION NEXT WEEK

The Texas Volunteer Firemen's Convention will meet in Galveston on June 11, 12 and 13th and Cameron will be represented by a large delegation of firemen and their wives and a racing team under Captain W. T. Turner to compete in the races for the cups and prizes.

Chief Monta Thomas will lead the delegation to the ocean city for the three days celebration.

The racing team under Captain Turner is one of the fastest teams ever sent out of this city to compete in the races. Cameron teams in the past years have made history in these events and the people here this year are looking forward to a triumph at the Galveston meeting.

The following will go to the convention: Chief Monta Thomas; Assistant chief, Sam McDermott; Captain W. T. Turner, Joe Richter, Pete Kunz, Bill Marek, Oscar Schiller, Vaughn Jenness, Albert Richter, Ludwig Matula, Bill Richter, Earl Thompson, Frank Richter, Bill Cook, Henderson Thompson. Those accompanying the racing team are Larry Hackebell and wife, E. O. Schiller and family, Sam McDermott and family, Bill Marek and family, 'Stack' Baggett, Chas. Walzel, Ben Mikula and Miss Julia Macal.

Temple Business Men Coming Here June 11

Business men of Temple in a good will tour of this section will be in Cameron Tuesday June 11 at 10:20 a.m. The delegation will be accompanied here by the Drum and Bugle Corps of the American Legion. Souvenirs will be distributed and no goods of any kind will be sold.

The business men of Temple thru the Chamber of Commerce make an annual trip thru the territory.

Father Kacer Going To Europe For Visit

The Herald is in receipt of a card from Rev. Father K. Kacer, pastor of the Catholic church at Marak, requesting change in mailing his paper. He is leaving for Europe where he will visit for some time.

Father Kacer has been active as pastor at Marak for a number of years and the trip to Europe will be of great help to him and a splendid vacation.

ARTHUR M. HYDE IS CALLED TO PASTORATE

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH HERE
ANNOUNCES PASTOR FOR LEADERSHIP

The Christian church has secured temporary pastoral leadership for the congregation. Pastor-Evangelist Arthur M. Hyde, of the Texas Christian Missionary Society, who recently conducted a three weeks meeting for the church, is to serve the congregation two Sundays each month and to spend eight week days in pastoral labors. The arrangement calls for ten consecutive days with the church each month. Every ten-day period is to embrace two Sundays, which, according to the arrangement, are designated as the last Sunday of each month and the first Sunday of the following month.

This arrangement is to continue until such time as a permanent pastor is secured for the congregation. Also it is hoped that the unsupplied Sundays may be filled to the satisfaction of the entire membership. Rev. Clyde Yarbrough, whom we all know and love, has been asked to fill the pulpit on vacant Sundays in June and July. It is sincerely hoped that he may find it possible to supply on these dates. The committee will advise the public through the press and the church Bulletin what the weekly program will be.

J. D. Epley, chairman
V. P. Woolley
R. Beard.

Pulpit Supply Committee.
Rev. Clyde Yarbrough will preach at the Christian church at both hours on Sunday.

Mrs. L. Ransom, who has been rooming with Miss Mollie Allen for the past winter, is moving to the Valley this week.

EDUCATION A LIFE PROCESS SAYS DEAN SHELBY IN TALK TO GRADUATES

70 Receive Diplomas At Close School Here

Using as his subject "Education as a Life Process," Dr. T. H. Shelby, Dean of the Division of Extension, University of Texas, was the principal speaker at the high school graduation exercises, held Wednesday evening at eight o'clock at the High School Auditorium, at which time seventy students were given diplomas. Dean Shelby, who was introduced by his friend, Superintendent T. A. Fisher, named four qualities of a fine mind, humility, curiosity or intellectual appetite, courage and a feeling of responsibility and then proceeded to discuss each one separately. Humility, he said, is a feeling of one's own unimportance in this world; that in the presence of the vast storehouse of learning in this world, the real man or woman will hang his head in humility, and that in the presence of the Creator, man must realize his own unimportance. In discussing the second quality, he said that a desire to know, to dig in, to understand, to ferret out, was evidence of an educated person. Courage was considered in two respects; intellectual and moral courage, both of which in the end mean that a real man must stand up for the thing he thinks is right and best. Quoting another, Dr. Shelby said he was prone to agree that students in high school and particularly in college are predatory animals, and he urged the members of the graduating class to go forth not using their knowledge only to gather for themselves, but in such a way that when they have finished the course the world will be a better place for their having lived in it.

"Education as a life process is something that must take hold of an individual," he declared. He stated further that the acquiring of knowledge is largely a matter of habit, habit in concentration and in thoroughness. In concluding he quoted the statement, "What I am to be, I am now becoming," and impressed the class with the necessity of beginning now to prepare to grasp the opportunities within reach, the like of which have never been known before.

The highest honor student of the class, Geraldine Slaughter, in her valedictory address expressed gratitude to the parents of the class members, to the teachers, and for the institution of which they were part. An interesting and unusual part of the program was the salutatory address made by Lois and Ruby Robbins, twin daughters of Mrs. K. K. Robbins, who tie for second highest honors. Each of them gave a short address and ended with a poem which they recited alternately.

Musical numbers on the program consisted of a piano solo, "Kamenoi Ostrow" (Rubenstein) by Miss Geraldine Slaughter; a vocal solo, "Summertime" (Saidee Burgoon) by Miss Inez Evans; a vocal duet, "Greeting to Spring" (Strauss) by Misses Dora Emily Moore and Inez Evans; and a vocal solo, "Perfect Day" (Bond), by Miss Florence Atkinson. Miss Lucille Dickard played the processional and the recessional. Rev. H. G. Kenney gave the invocation and Rev. J. P. Love of the Episcopal church pronounced the benediction.

Mr. T. A. Fisher, superintendent of schools, announced that scholarships from the Texas Association of Colleges had been won by Miss Geraldine Slaughter and Gilbert McCollum, highest honor students among girls and boys respectively.

Diplomas were presented by Mr. O. L. Kidd, president of the Board of Education, who made a short preliminary address to the class.

CAMERON BOYS CARRY A. & M. COLORS IN CHICAGO ATHLETIC MEETING FRIDAY

Don Slocumb and Ed Thompson left Cameron Wednesday at noon for Chicago where they will represent A. & M. College of Texas in the national athletic meet to be held there this week. They will arrive in Chicago early Thursday night and will participate in the contests there Friday and Saturday.

Both are graduates of the Yoe High School and both have been students at A. & M. College for several terms.

CHANGING AGE IS THEME OF SERMON BY REV. H. G. KENNEY AT THEATER SUNDAY

Every age is a changing age and creeds are found to be inadequate by men of every such unit of time, but Faith, Hope and Love abide forever, said Rev. H. G. Kenney in his sermon at the New Hefley Theater on last Sunday. He took for his text the words of the Apostle Paul and the following is the text of the sermon:

Text: "And now abideth faith, hope, love."—I Cor. 13:13.

"It is quite common to hear it said that we are living in a changing age. The simple truth in every age is a changing age. Each generation witnesses the passing away of the old, and the dawning of the new.

"Fads come, have their little day, and pass away. Mental attitudes come into existence, reach their high water mark, and then pass away—soon to be forgotten by even their staunchest supporters.

"Creeds are written, gain a large following, and then it is suddenly discovered by some daring soul that they are terribly inadequate and fail utterly to express the faith of another age. So they too pass away, and that in spite of orthodoxy.

"It is indeed a pity that we are so slow to learn that change is one of the fundamental laws of life. If our forefathers had learned it we would not today be reading about the heretics they burned at the stake. And if we of today could genuinely learn that lesson, our children would not have to read about the good men whom we persecute.

"Too, change is characteristic of Christianity. Mr. Gandhi says that Jesus' characteristic saying, 'and it came to pass,' is more than a mere play on words. 'It is,' he says, 'a true piece of orientalism, and any intelligent person of the East we immediately understand that Jesus was using that ever recurring phrase to emphasize the truth of a changing universe—a universe in which everything comes to pass.' So, let us drop the idea that the passing of the old and the dawning of the new is peculiar to our age. History is a continuous record of the passing of the old and the coming of the new. All except those who refuse to see can clearly see this on every page of history.

individual," he declared. He stated further that the acquiring of knowledge is largely a matter of habit, habit in concentration and in thoroughness. In concluding he quoted the statement, "What I am to be, I am now becoming," and impressed the class with the necessity of beginning now to prepare to grasp the opportunities within reach, the like of which have never been known before.

The highest honor student of the class, Geraldine Slaughter, in her valedictory address expressed gratitude to the parents of the class members, to the teachers, and for the institution of which they were part. An interesting and unusual part of the program was the salutatory address made by Lois and Ruby Robbins, twin daughters of Mrs. K. K. Robbins, who tie for second highest honors. Each of them gave a short address and ended with a poem which they recited alternately.

Musical numbers on the program consisted of a piano solo, "Kamenoi Ostrow" (Rubenstein) by Miss Geraldine Slaughter; a vocal solo, "Summertime" (Saidee Burgoon) by Miss Inez Evans; a vocal duet, "Greeting to Spring" (Strauss) by Misses Dora Emily Moore and Inez Evans; and a vocal solo, "Perfect Day" (Bond), by Miss Florence Atkinson. Miss Lucille Dickard played the processional and the recessional. Rev. H. G. Kenney gave the invocation and Rev. J. P. Love of the Episcopal church pronounced the benediction.

Mr. T. A. Fisher, superintendent of schools, announced that scholarships from the Texas Association of Colleges had been won by Miss Geraldine Slaughter and Gilbert McCollum, highest honor students among girls and boys respectively.

Diplomas were presented by Mr. O. L. Kidd, president of the Board of Education, who made a short preliminary address to the class.

Slocumb is a hurdler and one of the best ever to have worn the colors of the historic college. Thompson is the newly elected captain of the 1930 track team of the college and is a half mile runner and one of the best track men in the South.

Accompanying them are Floyd, javelin thrower and Farmer, broad jump star. They expect to return to Texas some time early next week.

"Now, then, it appears, St. Paul came to see that he too was living in a changing age. The simple truth is, the record shows clearly that St. Paul himself changed, at least once, in his attitude towards the dogma of the immediate physical return of Jesus Christ. In his first letter to the Thessalonians he dogmatically stated that Jesus would return in bodily form during the lifetime of those to whom he was writing. In his second letter, for economic reasons, he corrected all this. And not only St. Paul. Dr. Harris E. Kirk, former moderator of the Southern Presbyterian General Assembly, in a recent letter to me has this to say: 'If you will read carefully the reports of the work of the Assembly, you will see that it was the most progressive we have ever had on most questions of a controversial character. The impression left on my mind at the end was that the influence of the dead hand on our church was definitely being lifted, and that a new day is dawning.' So, then, I repeat, every age is a changing age. 'Back, then, to our text. Listen: 'Now abideth faith, hope, love.' It is good, then, to know that in this changing world there are some things which are to abide—some things which are destined to outlive the sun and stars. We want, then, to take St. Paul's outline and seriously think for a while this morning about the things which are to abide.

"The first abiding reality which St. Paul mentions is FAITH. Now, it would be quite an easy matter for some one to protest just here that faith is even now changing, to say nothing of showing signs of actually passing away.

"My answer is that that protest comes from a lack of knowledge of the thing described as faith. It is quite true that the faith of today treats with far less importance things which were regarded as fundamental a generation or so ago. For instance miracles, verbal inspiration of the Bible, theories of divinity, atonement, etc. But, my friends, a change of emphasis is by no means a denial or a passing away of faith itself.

"It is also quite true that the faith of today does not easily resign itself, (continued on page 6)

New Marriage License Applications Received

Applications for marriage license to be signed by both parties to the contract have been received at the office of Homer Nabours, county clerk. These applications to be filled out three days before the marriage license is issued are required under the new law passed by the last session of the legislature.

Mr. Nabours is in Fort Worth this week attending the convention of the county clerks of Texas and expects to return to the city about Monday.

Up to this time about 100 Notary Publics have been qualified. June 10 is the last date on which a notary may qualify. There remain some 80 notaries to qualify in the county.

Borden Dairy Men In Cameron To Visit At Local Milk Plant

J. B. Snider, field superintendent for the Borden Milk plant at Waco and E. E. Waters, superintendent of the factory there, were in Cameron Wednesday to visit with J. C. Tucker of the local plant and to give encouragement to the dairy industry here.

They made a short auto trip thru the territory here and got first hand information as to possibilities here. The Borden company is interested in the success of the dairy industry in all parts of the state and their visit here was one of encouragement for the local plant.

RIG ARRIVES HERE FOR WILLIAMS TEST WELL

WELL TO BE DRILLED 3500 FEET
ON CAREFUL LOCATION
EAST OF CITY

The rotary rig for the Elbert Williams 3500 foot deep test well on the Tom Schigut farm east of Cameron was received this week and is being installed at the 112 foot derrick.

Due to high waters and bad road conditions the delivery of the rig was delayed. The rig came from Luling having been used there in drilling the wells of that field.

The location for this test is considered the most promising yet made in this section of the county. It follows the old geological survey made by the United States Government and local men interested in the development of the territory believe oil will be located here.

Mr. Williams hopes to spud in this well within a short time and it will be drilled to completion some time this summer, possibly by the middle of August.

MISS C. BLASIENZ IS BURIED AT CALVERT

FORMER RESIDENT OF MILAM
COUNTY DIES IN HOUSTON
SUNDAY, JUNE 2

Funeral services for Miss Cleveland Blasienz of 706 Holman street, Houston, who died at a local hospital was held at Calvert at 4 p. m. Monday, the body being forwarded to that place at 11:30 p. m. Sunday by Settegast-Kopf company. Miss Blasienz was for the past eight years an instructor in the Montrose school, a member of the First Methodist church at Houston and member of the O. E. S. at Calvert. She is survived by three brothers, Tom and Jerry Blasienz of Calvert, and Earl Blasienz of Rosenberg; two sisters, Mrs. Ernest S. Goens of Tyler and Mrs. Ernest C. Hill of El Dorado.

Miss Blasienz was a niece of Mrs. Ida Avriett, of Cameron. She was born at Maysfield in Milam county and was known to a wide circle of friends and relatives in this section. Miss Blasienz had given her life to the profession of teaching becoming a number of years ago in Milam county rural schools. At Houston she was one of the most efficient members of the educational staff of that city and had endeared herself to a wide circle of friends.

Those attending the funeral from Cameron were Mrs. Ida Avriett, Mrs. W. O. Triggs, Giles L. Avriett, Mrs. Wm. Rogers, W. O. Triggs, Miss Myrtle Avriett, Mrs. L. L. Blaylock, Mrs. Drayton McLane, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Triggs and Judge John Watson.

R. L. BATTE, JR. NAMED MARSHAL AT THORNDALE

FORMER CAMERON BOY WINS
OFFICE IN BALLOTING
THERE

R. L. Batte, Jr., former resident here, has been elected City Marshal of Thorndale and will take the oath of office as soon as the new officers are ready to qualify.

Mr. Batte has many friends in Cameron who will be interested to note his election to this important place in the newly created government at Thorndale. Mr. Batte was at one time deputy marshal in Cameron and was a candidate for sheriff in the primary election of last year, withdrawing from the race sometime before the date of the election for business reasons, as stated in a letter to the people.

At present Mr. Batte is manager of the Batte industries there, including cotton gins and an oil mill.

F. E. Stiles, manager of the election, submits the following returns from the city election held at Thorndale: W. B. Elliott, Mayor, 112 votes; R. L. Batte, Jr., marshal, 105 votes; O. F. Weise, 114 votes; C. Seller, 112 votes; V. F. Norris 105 votes; Max Westerman 109 votes and L. G. Butts 78 votes, aldermen.

The election for school bonds held at the Gay Hill community between Rockdale and Thorndale carried by a vote of 34 to 4, according to E. E. Eiland, who brought the returns in to the office of the county judge.

PROBATE COURT

The following proceedings were noted in the Probate Court this week with Judge Jeff T. Kemp presiding: George C. Black appointed community administrator of the estate of himself and Lizzie Ann Black, deceased, Dan Gunn, J. G. Davis and Arthur Baskin appointed appraisers.

Mrs. Minnie Lamkin appointed temporary guardian of the estates of Vivian Lamkin, Estelle Lamkin and J. L. Lamkin, minors. John B. Henderson, Wm. Henderson and Will Vaughn appointed appraisers.

R. R. Wilson appointed temporary guardian of the estate of Alice J. Wilson.

Will of Ed A. Doss admitted to probate. Mrs. Lena Doss appointed executrix without bond. Emil Doss, Jim Eads and R. A. Doss appointed appraisers.

Will of Dr. John Z. Young admitted to probate. Mrs. Fannie Mae Young appointed independent executrix without bond. T. F. Criswell, Ed Kolba and E. J. Kahler appointed appraisers.

John T. Hale appointed administrator of the estate of J. L. Jenkins, deceased. Bond fixed at $10,000. W. T. Ramsel, C. R. Isaacs and T. B. Ryan appointed appraisers.

NEW PLEASURE PARK IS BUILT FOR CAMERON

ELWOOD CAMMER BUYS NICE
ACREAGE AND WILL IMPROVE
SITE FOR PARK

Elwood Cammer who established the Wayside Inn tourist park and dance pavilion at the river bridge has purchased four acres of land west of the city on the Buckholts road near the site of the old Germania Hall and will build a dance pavilion there and improve the place for a pleasure park.

Mr. Cammer has not yet named the park and is asking for suggestions for a name. He is building this place at the solicitation of many friends and former patrons of Wayside.

Work has been started on the hall. A sandwich shop will be conducted also. Nabours and Harris have the contract for the building and the material is furnished by the Jeter Lumber Company.

The new park and pavilion will be opened on July 5th and Steve Gardner will play the German for the big opening night. Mr. Cammer in times past has given free barbecues on the 4th but has not yet decided what he will do this year. The new dance hall is 46 by 76 feet and the park is equipped with city water and city lights.

According to Mr. Cammer this will be a country club for all people. There will be shade and a place for an outing for the people. There has been some talk of a racing track close by and these plans are being worked out.

FOOD

Miss Bartholomew Continues Talk On How To Pickle

Pickling

Since pickles are soaked in brine to make them firm and improve their flavor, care should be taken to observe accurate measurements in order to prevent shriveling or softening. Pickles should not be left in brine more than 24 hours. 1 to 1-2 cups salt to 1 gallon water may be used.

The pickle color may be improved or retained to a great extent by pouring cold vinegar over them and then gradually heating to the boiling point. Also grape leaves may be added to the jar for color and flavor. It is advisable not to add alum to secure crispness since it is an astringent and has a bad effect on the digestive system.

Dill Pickles

Cover the bottom of a four gallon jar or keg with grape leaves then add a layer of dill and 1-2 ounce mixed spice. Fill with cucumbers. Add another 1-2 ounce of spice and an outer layer of dill and cover with grape leaves. Pour over pickles a brine made of one pound salt, 3-4 quart vinegar, 10 quarts cold water (preferably soft). Cover in such a manner as to keep cucumbers under brine. The scum that forms should be kept skimmed off as it usually contains bacteria. Active fermentation will have been completed in ten days to two weeks and in order to protect against spoilage, cover with a layer of paraffin or transfer to jars. Then cover with fresh brine made as directed above. After bringing to a boil and cooling a small amount of dill and spice may be added, then pour over pickles and seal.

Dixie Relish (Powell)

1 quart chopped cabbage
1 pint chopped onions
1 pint chopped sweet red peppers
1 pint chopped sweet green peppers
4 tablespoons salt
4 tablespoons mustard seed
2 tablespoons celery seed
3-4 cup sugar
1 quart vinegar

Soak pepper in brine (1 cup salt to 1 gallon water) for 24 hours. Freshen in clear water for 1 to 2 hours. Drain. Remove seeds and coarse white material. Chop separately and measure the chopped cabbage and peppers and onions before mixing.

Add spices, sugar and vinegar. Let stand over night in a crock or enameled vessel. Pack into sterilized jars. When ready to pack drain off vinegar in order that the jar may be well packed. Press the relish carefully in the jars. Pour over it the vinegar that was drained off. Use a wooden paddle to remove every bubble. Garnish each jar with two quarter inch strips of red pepper in a vertical position on opposite sides of the jar. Be sure that the seam of the jar is on the back. Cap, clamp and process for fifteen minutes at boiling temperature.

Green Tomato Pickle (Powell)

1 gallon green tomatoes
1-2 dozen large onions
3 cups brown sugar
1-2 lemon
3 pods red pepper
3 cups vinegar
1 tablespoon whole black pepper
1 tablespoon whole cloves
1 tablespoon all spice
1 tablespoon celery seed (crushed)
1 tablespoon mustard seed
1 tablespoon ground mustard

Slice the tomatoes and onions thin, sprinkle over them 1-2 cup salt and let stand over night in a crock or enameled vessel. Tie the pepper, cloves all spice and celery seed in a cheese cloth bag. Slice the lemon and chop the pepper pods very fine. Drain the onion and the tomatoes well. And the seasoning except one pepper pod to the vinegar then add tomatoes and onions, cook for one-half hour, stirring gently at intervals to prevent burning. Remove spice bag to prevent darkening product. Pack by jar with strips of red pepper in garnishing the opposite sides of the jar in the tical fashion. Process for 15 minutes. Pint jar is a standard container.

Chow Chow

1 gallon chopped cabbage
1-2 gallon chopped green tomatoes
1 dozen large onions (chopped)
1 dozen sweet bell peppers (chopped) green.
1-2 dozen sweet bell peppers (chopped) red
2 pounds sugar
1-2 cup ground mustard
6 tablespoons white mustard seed
1 tablespoon ground ginger
3 tablespoons celery seed
1 ounce cloves mashed and tied in a bag

Sprinkle lightly with salt and chopped ingredients, putting each in separate bowl. Let stand for four hours. Press the juice from tomatoes. Place the chopped peppers and cabbage in separate muslin bags and squeeze the juice from them. Mix all ingredients, being careful to rub mustard and ginger to a smooth paste with a little vinegar before adding.

Pour slowly over these the vinegar and boil mixture slowly for 1-2 hour. Pour into large jar. Cover tightly. Remove spice bags after 3 weeks. After 6 weeks Chow Chow may be packed into jars. Use the same vinegar in which pickles were cooked when packing Chow Chow. Process packed jars for 25 minutes.

Mrs. B. F. Bonds Is Hostess At Bridge

Mrs. B. F. Bonds was hostess on two occasions last week when she entertained members of the Wednesday Bridge Club and again when she invited five tables of bridge players for games Thursday afternoon. Pink radiance roses adorned the reception rooms for both parties, and the collation for both consisted of a salad course served on green hand painted trays centered with the radiance roses in vases.

Out of town guests Wednesday were Mrs. Ernest Beard of Hillsboro and Mrs. Hamilton Bonnet of Evansville, Illinois.

Miss Aetna Smith made high score Thursday afternoon and Mrs. W. R. Hoover low, and both were appropriately awarded gift prizes. Out of town guests were Miss Laverne Bowler of Dallas and Mrs. Al G. Badger of San Angelo.

Miss Maude McGehee Will Marry Newton Smith Of Houston

Announcement of the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Maude McGehee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. McGehee, and Mr. Newton Smith of Houston was made in Waco last Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. Guy Robbins, 760 North Eleventh Street.

The following account of the affair appeared in the Waco papers: "Ribbons fell from a decorated umbrella and held tiny brides as terminals. This was the chandelier decoration, so that guests entering the room were apprized of a bridal theme and were in readiness for the announcement. Daisies and silver iridescent blossoms made the decorative scheme a success.

High score at bridge was a boudoir pillow, and the low, hand embroidered vanity case. The honored guest, who has the nickname of "Polly" among her friends, was presented linen for her trousseau chest. A salad course was served the guests."

The wedding is to be an event of June 18 at the First Baptist church here with Rev. E. S. Hutcherson the celebrant. The bride-to-be has taught in Waco for a number of years, a member of the faculty of Columbus Avenue School. Following the close of the schools in Waco last week, she returned home Saturday.

The groom is an employee of the Postoffice department at Houston where they will make their home. The romance was begun while the two were students of the Teachers College at San Marcos.

Felix Krause Among Graduates At Saint Edward's University

Austin, Tex., June 4.—Felix Krause of Burlington was among the graduates of St. Edward's University here on Sunday, June 2, receiving the degree of bachelor of arts in natural science. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Krause.

Besides having maintained a creditable scholastic standing, Krause has been an outstanding tackle on the football team for the four years of his college career, and in the past two years he received mention for the all-Texas conference team.

Now more than a MILLION FRIGIDAIRES have been built

With every department of the Frigidaire factories running at maximum capacity, with orders greater than at any time in the history of the business, on Thursday, May 16th, the Millionth Frigidaire was built

In both the Household and Commercial fields Frigidaire leads in sales to customers

THERE are definite reasons why more Frigidaires are in use than all other makes of electric refrigerators combined; why it is the choice of home owners, of builders, of apartment owners, of commercial refrigeration users throughout the world.

Beauty, power and convenience

Frigidaire has surplus power that meets every emergency in the hottest weather, and yet operates economically always.

Frigidaire cabinets are beautiful—they are finished in gleaming porcelain enamel, or white Duco—clean and easy to keep clean. The mechanical part is completely enclosed and so quiet that you don't hear it start, stop, or run. Food shelves are elevated so that stooping is unnecessary.

The famous "Cold Control"

And in addition to the standard temperature regulator which automatically maintains an ideal temperature in the food compartment, Frigidaire is equipped with the famous "Cold Control" that speeds the freezing of ice cubes and makes possible dozens of new and delicious desserts and salads.

Low Prices

Because Frigidaire has achieved the million mark—because it is the overwhelming choice of the majority—the economies of quantity production have made prices so low that every model represents a tremendous saving to the buyer.

YARBROUGH IN SERMON AT COMMENCEMENT

FORMER GRADUATE HERE IN
SPIRES STUDENTS WHO
FINISH HIGH SCHOOL

Clyde Yarbrough, a graduate of Yoe High School with the class of '26, preached the commencement sermon to members of the class of 1929 Sunday evening, June 2, at the First Methodist church. It was an auspicious occasion for the speaker because of his achievements in the past three years since his own graduation, for the class because they are graduates, and for the C. H. Yoe High school because it finishes such students.

Clad in light trousers and a dark coat, Mr. Yarbrough did not have the appearance of a minister, but with his first words and then as his message progressed the audience realized that he knew whereof he spoke and that in him are the makings of a powerful speaker. Because of his youth, it was fitting that in his introductory admonition to the members of the class, he should congratulate them on their youth, saying that youth is the morning and the springtime of life. Because of his own attainments, it was natural that he should congratulate them upon their graduation, accompanied as it is with its many hours of labor. And because of his own most promising future, it was appropriate that he should remind the class of the possibilities of their future lives, declaring that "Commencement" is a very proper word to use for graduation exercises.

Most people placed in a position such as that Mr. Yarbrough graced, might have felt ill at ease, but not so with him. Announcing as his subject, "The Power of Thought," and as his text the words, "For as a man thinketh, so is he," from the twenty-third chapter of Proverbs, he proceeded with his message in a manner that would do credit to a man of many years experience in addressing graduating classes. "The most powerful thing in the world today is thought in its intangible, invisible form." And to the graduates he said, "Your achievements in the world of tomorrow will depend upon your thinking."

The second phase of his treatment of the subject had to do with the fact that man becomes as he thinks. Any man is just as big as he thinks, he cannot think small and grow big, think bad and grow kind, think impure thoughts and grow clean. To substantiate his statements he quoted from many authors such pithy saying as this: "If you want to rise in the world, begin by raising your thoughts." He also cited examples of thinking men of history, saying that when Tennyson wrote "Crossing the Bar" he did more for the world than if he had built a man-of-war; that Robert Louis Stevenson with his many books has benefitted humanity more than any of his ancestors who improved lighthouses; that the artist Millet gave the world a treasure when he painted on a strip of cheap canvas "The Angelus."

In concluding his sermon, he cautioned the graduates that they are now ready to meet life in its naked reality, that they must think seriously of life and of God.

There was a noticeable absence of humor in the address, and this fact added to the dignity of the occasion. It was not a light moment for the speaker, and the nearest approach to a witticism that he made was to mention operating a hamburger stand as a future occupation for some members of the class. He knows from experience that this commencement is a launching into life for the class and his aim, which he reached in splendid manner, was to try to help prepare them for it.

The processional and recessional were played by Miss Lucille Dickard of the high school faculty. Mr. Hyde of the Christian church was master of the program and made the announcements. E. S. Hutcherson, pastor of the Baptist church, gave the invocation and this was followed by a hymn, "Softly Now the Light of Day," members of the Junior class of the high school forming the choir. The responsive reading led by Mr. Hyde was the Ninety-first Psalm, and this was closed with Gloria Patri. P. T. Ramsey of the Methodist church read a scripture taken from the Fifth chapter of Matthew, a portion of the Sermon on the Mount. A special musical number by the choir followed this, and then T. A. Fisher, superintendent of Cameron schools, introduced Mr. Yarbrough, giving a few biographical facts of interest to the audience.

After the sermon, Misses Inez Evans and Dora Emily Moore, members of the graduating class, sang a duet, "Hold Thou My Hand" by Briggs. The benediction was pronounced by Mr. Yarbrough, and the graduates filed out, the first event in their formal graduation exercises having become a thing of the past.

BLOATED FEELING

And Other Troubles Went
Away After This South
Carolinian Had Taken
Black-Draught.

Iva, S. C.—"I have used Black-Draught, at intervals, for about five years," says Mr. J. F. Gilliland, of this place. "I take it for indigestion. After eating, I would have a tight, bloated feeling, and pains in my chest and stomach. I would spit up my food, and some things I ate would not agree with me at all. I would be hungry, but afraid to eat on account of the indigestion. I would be constipated, too."

"Some one told me that I should try Black-Draught, which I did, with good results. I take just a small dose after meals, and I feel like a different person."

"I do not have any more trouble of that kind. I can now eat almost anything I want to, at any time, and it does not hurt me."

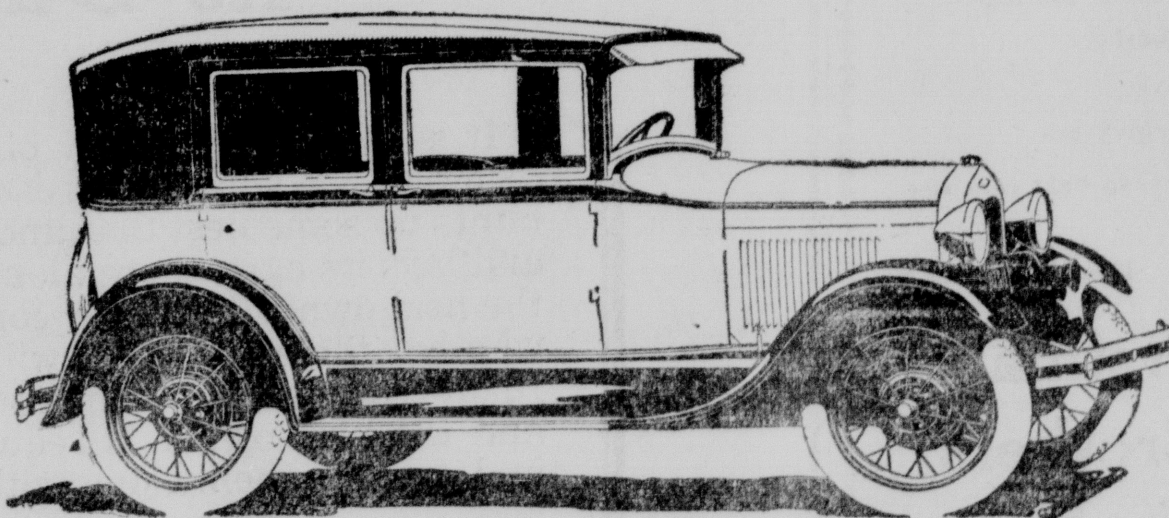

"Black-Draught is a splendid medicine. I can recommend it to others."

Thousands of people have found relief, in cases of common indigestion, by taking a pinch of Black-Draught after meals, and continuing this treatment for several days.

Take Theodor's Black-Draught. It is purely vegetable and acts in a helpful way, without the bad effects of mineral drugs. NC-129

CHICAGO TRIBUNE ATTACKS CHRISTIAN CENTURY ARTICLE ON PROHIBITION MURDER OF MRS. DE KING AT AURORA

Under the caption, "Christian Century?", the Chicago Tribune printed the following editorial on May 22:

The Christian Century has published an article charging that The Tribune distorted, misrepresented, and suppressed facts in the news of the De King killing for the purpose of discrediting prohibition and prohibition enforcement methods.

The author of the criticism, Mr. Paul Hutchinson, produced his version of the affair. He neglected to quote authorities for most of his statements except to indicate that he accepted the account of State's Attorney Carbury of Kane county. Much of his information could have been obtained from no other source than the report of the grand jury, a document to which Mr. Carbury refused the legislative investigating committee access and which is not available for refutation. These are the facts as developed by Mr. Hutchinson for the Christian Century.

Two deputy sheriffs of Kane county and an investigator went to the home of Joseph De King in the environs of Aurora. They had a warrant which was subsequently proved fraudulent and the paid informer who swore to it has been indicted for perjury. Although Mr. Hutchinson claims that De King was a notorious character, the warrant did not name him, but named John Doe. (Carbury before the investigating committee admitted that this was bad practice.) Furthermore although the supposed evidence had been obtained nine days previously, the officers waited to make a night visit to serve the bogus warrant.

George Stafford refused the officers admittance, saying that De King, the owner of the house, was upstairs asleep. Gerald De King, the boy, was ordered to get his father and tell him he was wanted. (One of the deputies during the investigation said that they told the boy nothing.) De King, aroused from sleep, came down dressed in underclothes. He was in an "ugly mood"—a weasel word for "angry."

Meanwhile one of the snoopers had searched the cellar and discovered a jug of wine. (Testimony at the investigation was that the wine was not found till later.) De King from the stairs ordered the illegal raiders out of his home and Hutchinson said that De King fired to show he was in earnest, cutting one of the dupes short as he tried to read the warrant. (One of the deputies has testified that De King ordered them out, not from the stairs, but while they were all in the kitchen, and that he did not shoot in the air until the officers had left the house. Then, outside, De King fired into the air. There has been no testimony that any one tried to read the warrant, and the fact is not certain that the deputies even had the illegal warrant with them.)

Then the three officers left the De King home to get reinforcements. Hanson returned first with Joseph's brother, Peter De King. Before the rest of the dry mob came back they sat down with Joseph, Mrs. De King, who had returned, and Gerald. Hanson drank some of the wine.

The party was thoroughly congenial and De King had been persuaded to submit to orderly arrest until the two other deputies returned with three comrades. De King saw them at the door and threatened them if they should come in. Whereat Deputy Sheriff Smith cracked De King over the head with the butt end of a gun. The gun was splintered by the blow and De King fell. The room was in confusion. Some of the officers "beat it." Mrs. De King, a woman five feet one inch tall, started towards her husband as he was stretched on the floor. Hutchinson said that she reached for De King's gun. Smith blazed away at her and after staggering a few feet Mrs. De King dropped. (According to testimony of the physician who examined the body, Mrs. De King was standing when she was shot. She could not have been stooping for the gun.) As a coup de grace a deputy outside tossed a gas bomb in the window. Hutchinson was forced to admit Mrs. De King was a woman of good character.

Here we are disposed to rest our case. The Christian Century obscured the real issue by attempting to show that out of the confusion its correspondent has discovered the true set of facts, which in their deviation from the facts as stated in The Tribune discredit our motives and methods.

For purposes of the record the Christian Century says that it regrets the murder of Mrs. De King, a statement not borne out by the rest of the article. The article was prepared in condonation of a murder, no doubt with the direct result of inspiring more murders by offering the sanction of the church to prohibition killers. The business of attacking the newspapers (all of the Chicago newspapers were criticized but pardoned somewhat as being influenced by The Tribune) was a trick to escape the onus of praising directly the wanton slaying of a mother in the fanatical enforcement of a moral law.

Mrs. De King was murdered because a perjurer hired by the prohibition authorities lied to get a $5 fee. She was murdered because her husband resented a gang of bullies overrunning their home without even showing the fraudulent warrant, if they had one, proceeding in outrageous violation of the guaranty of the security of the home. She was murdered because, with the protection of the state's attorney and a judge behind them, the undisciplined mob of raiders behaved like Turkish plunderers in their perverted mania to get a jug of wine, the possession of which was not illegal and which one of their number had partially consumed.

Had the prosecutor obtained a warrant based upon trustworthy evidence, there would have been a proper procedure in arresting Joseph De King. One man, unarmed, could have gone to the De King home in the daytime. He could have read the warrant to De King and said, "De King you're wanted." If De King had resisted, the deputy should have consulted the state's attorney and the arrest could have been made in an orderly fashion without clubbing the victim and killing his wife. Hutchinson, himself, states that De King was ready to be taken by one man, but that he was infuriated by the presence of a gang of desperadoes armed with bullet proof vests, sawed-off shotguns, and gas bombs.

The name Christian, above all things, implies tolerance and forgiveness; it implies abhorrence of brutality and abiding love for humanity. The Christian Century represents itself as being the spokesman for this faith. But the Christian Century has established a standard of hate; it has introduced a crusade of murder, first for the enforcement of a law which most men resent, and now for the execution of people suspected of violating a law or even for the murder of any people whom confessed perjurers accuse of violating the law.

Ruthless and sanguinary persons masquerading as Christians are temporarily directing the taking of victims they have marked for execution and controlling a large part of the politicians of the country. But incidents such as the article in the Christian Century sets forth are exposing their program, which is wrecking not only the social and political life of the country, but is obstructing the work of the competent and intelligent ministry among reasonable and fundamentally sound Christians. Fortunately, their dominion will inevitably be ended by a reaction to and a full knowledge of their savagery and frenzy.

Miss Oleta Reese left today for Waco to attend the summer session at Baylor University. Her sister, Miss Bernice Reese, who has been in school at Baylor during the winter will also remain during the summer term.

New Size Bills To Be Ready July 10, Treasury Says

Washington, June 3.—The American public will have to begin tapering off July 10 on the long established habit of breaking old fashioned bills and start acquiring the habit of spending the new variety, which are different in size, but represent the same amount of purchasing power.

The new bills, six and five-sixteenths inches wide with black and white faces and green backs, will go into circulation on that date, as far as the popular $1 and $20 denominations are concerned. Those for higher amounts will be introduced later.

The larger bills with which most folks are familiar will continue to be used until worn out, and for a time all orders for fresh paper currency will be filled by the treasury with both varieties. Recognizing that this may cause inconvenience, treasury officials are hopeful that the public will be patient until the supply of old-type bills is exhausted and uniformity of currency again established.

The Cow Bird Shirks Its Duty

It is said that the cow bird never builds its own nest. When it gets ready to lay its eggs, it hunts up some nest that another bird has built and lays its eggs there along with the eggs of the nest owner. It never concerns itself about whether the small birds will be taken care of. In due course of time the cow birds eggs hatch and the nest owner is required to feed them and care for them along with her own.

Some men are like the cow bird. They live in a community and enjoy its opportunities, but never contribute anything to community betterment. They take advantage of every opportunity that those who have lived and served before them have made possible, but as far as they are concerned they shirk every community responsibility. They refuse to give to any public or civic enterprise.

People of this sort are too selfish to be of any value to a community, and no community was ever built or made better by this class of people.

The people who make a town, are the people who get back of community projects and do what they can to promote them. These are the community builders and everything Cameron has worthwhile is here because there was enough of this type of people to bring this to pass.

THE ESSEX CAR

Is only one of the many desirable things we have in stock. It is the best of its kind, of course in our opinion. Equally as good in its way is the spirit of courtesy we put behind it, the maintenance system we provide for all its owners, the personal interest we take in each and every one of them, the conscientious effort we make to do things right and earn our customers friendship.

The Essex car is a great machine and deserves that kind of backing. But the credit for that goes to the Essex factory. We could not build it here if we wanted to but we can build a business atmosphere to match it in quality, and we work days and nights to accomplish that purpose.

The Essex owner is the judge of our success. Ask him about the spirit of our business.

ROCKDALE LEGION TO CELEBRATE JULY 4TH

INCREASED INTEREST BEING MANIFESTED IN MILK ROUTE TO CAMERON

Henry Abernathy, driver of the truck handling the local milk route for the Cameron cheese factory, reports his business picking up every day up to Monday when the flood situation kept him from making the complete round. His last delivery at the factory weighed 900 pounds, and he expects it to reach 1200 pounds daily as soon as the roads become passable again.

"I have 20 regular customers now, with ten more pledged to begin shipping this week," Abernathy stated Wednesday. "I was unable to get to Lexington either Monday, Tuesday or today, but hope to make it tomorrow. Milk now on hand is being kept in the local ice factory until I am able to get to Cameron with it."

Abernathy's route is from Cameron to Lexington. He goes out south by way of Hamilton Chapel and Pleasant Hill, thence to Lexington, and back on highway No. 44 via Tanglewood and Hicks. Next week he will start his young son on a branch route out in the Salty and Gay Hill communities. He reports interest increasing and expects soon to have all the milk he can haul.

"Patrons seem to be very well satisfied with the 46c price," he said, "and some of them say it is a better proposition than using a separator and selling the cream. All who want it get their whey back the next day without any cost to them."—The Rockdale Reporter.

Odd Fellows At San Gabriel To Observe Holiday, July 4th

At a meeting of the members of I. O. O. F. lodge of San Gabriel held last Monday night it was unanimously decided to hold their second annual Fourth of July picnic this year and plans are already going forward toward the preliminary arrangements. The first celebration held at Penn Camp Grounds on the Fourth of July last year was a huge success and was attended by a record crowd, many coming from distant counties. It is the intention of the arrangement committee to prepare for another big crowd of people and have even more entertainment features as well as better conveniences for the comfort of those coming to spend the entire day.

The people of Thorndale joined the San Gabriel people last year in their patriotic celebration and the Champion is sure that the same spirit will prevail this year on the part of the local people co-operating to the end of making the celebration a success.—Thorndale Champion.

Years of service in MODEL T FORDS

THE Model T was so strongly and sturdily built that it is still rendering reliable, economical service to motorists in every section of the country. Millions of these cars can be put in shape for two, three and five more years of use at very small cost.

So that you may have this work done economically and satisfactorily, the Ford Motor Company is still devoting a considerable section of its plants to the manufacture of Model T parts. It will continue to do so as long as they are needed by Model T owners. The following list gives the approximate labor charges for reconditioning the Model T Ford:—

Engine
Tune motor (including replacement of commutator case, brush and vibrator points if necessary)	$1.00
Grind valves and clean carbon	$3.75 to 4.00
Overhaul carburetor	1.50
Refine detachable car transmission bands	1.50
Install new pistons or connecting rods	6.00
Tighten all main bearings	6.00
Overhaul motor and transmission	$20.00 to 25.00
Rear System
Replace rear axle assembly	2.50
Install universal joint	3.00
Refine brake shoes	1.50
Replace rear axle shaft, drive shaft pinion, or drive gear	5.00
Overhaul complete rear axle assembly	$5.75 to 7.00
Rebush spring and perches	1.75
Oil and graphite springs	3.00
Front System
Overhaul front axle	$4.00 to 5.00
Rebush spindle bodies and arms (both sides)	2.50
Replace or straighten spindle connecting rod	.75
Tighten radius rod or steering ball cap	.60
Tighten all sockets and joints of front end	1.50
Replace front spring tie bolt or new leaf	2.50
Straighten front axle	3.00
Chassis
Replace rear fender	1.75
Overhaul steering gear	3.50
Repair muffler	1.00
Overhaul radiator	7.50
Repaint Coupe	25.00
Repaint Sedan	20.00
Repaint Touring Car	8.00
Reupholster Runabout	15.00
Reupholster Touring Car	4.00
Replace top deck (Coupe or Sedan)	3.00
Overhaul starting motor	2.60
Overhaul generator	2.60

These prices are approximate and are for labor only, because the need and number of new parts depend on the condition of each car. The charge for these parts is low, however, because of the established Ford policy of manufacturing and selling at a small margin of profit.

HE PLAYS THE GAME

Is golf going to take the place of baseball as our foremost national sport?

You may scoff at the suggestion. But sporting goods manufacturers estimate that at least 2,000,000 Americans are golfers.

And that is only a beginning. Anyone with his eyes open realizes that a golf craze is sweeping the country like a prairie fire. In popularity, golf is growing far faster than baseball grew in its early days.

For everyone that plays golf there are five who would be playing if they could.

In the main, golf is still a rich man's game. The price of getting into a good golf club is prohibitive for the average man—and usually intentionally so, to keep the membership "exclusive."

The scarcity of golf courses for the person of moderate means drives home the principle that America has made practically no provisions for recreational sports for the people.

If golf ever does dethrone baseball, it will be a good thing for the national health.

The baseball fan rarely plays the game himself. He sits and watches professionals play. For this reason, baseball in America is no longer a sport. It is a form of theatricals.

You do not, however, find golf enthusiasts sitting back and watching other players—except an occasional star. The golfer is not a grandstand loafer. He gets out and plays the game himself.

THE URGE TO "GET AWAY"

The battle of the vacation resorts is on with enough spoils for distribution to assure victory to all of the combatants. This annual battle is waged to decide whether the summer vacationists will go to the mountains to the seashore, automobile touring, to the summer cottage, camping, transcontinental railroad sightseeing or touring abroad. Next fall it will be learned as heretofore that the vacationists have gone to all of these places.

There are some people who enjoy going to the same resort, in the same way and at the same time every year but the greater portion of the American populace has an insatiable appetite for the novel and strange in vacation resorts as well as in everything else. So nine out of ten of us will go to the seashore one year, to the mountains another year and touring on still another year.

Another phase of the summer vacation is that strange, unexplainable urge which makes everybody at vacation time to wish to get away from the scene of his labors. People who live at the seashore 50 weeks in the year go to the mountains or abroad at vacation time. The mountain dwellers flock down to the seashore resorts on the vacation excursions and the European and Asiatic probably come to America, while Mr. and Mrs. United States are vacationing abroad. A definition for the word "vacation" might well be "a sojourn away from home," although Webster's gives it as an intermission from stated employment.

The only available explanation for the vacation wanderlust is the propensity of the American to become bored with his surroundings and to crave new hunting grounds. Perhaps it is a twentieth century outcropping of the pioneer instinct of the frontier-pushing forefathers.

TIME AND CHANCE

There is a destiny which shapes our ends and our lives, but what a frail and inconspicuous destiny it is. One little incident may change the whole tenor of a life, has made a success out of a failure, has given fame and even immortality.

Joseph Conrad, greatest writer of sea stories, became a "sea-rover" because his first books as a Polish boy were of the sea and exploration. What might he have been if his library as a boy had been other than it was?

Benjamin Franklin followed vague inclination to ship from Boston to Philadelphia and became Pennsylvania's leading citizen of his time, the spokesman for the American colonies and an immortal figure in American history. What might he have been had he continued in the employ of his brother's print shop?

Who can account for the chance dig of the spade which uncovered the tomb of Tutankhamen, the fortunate discovery of the first oil well at Titusville, Pa., and the gold nugget which precipitated the rush of the forty-miners to California?

Many of us can place our fingers on one happening, perhaps accidental, which was the deciding factor in the determination of our life's work. A chance perusal of the classified advertising page of a newspaper has been this deciding factor for thousands. Such a thing as a news item has been known to serve as the one break in the wall of the rut.

When Elbert Hubbard wrote that "Man should follow the dictates of his passions" he did not mean that he should give full play to his desires, but that the subconscious inclinations of man are sooner to be obeyed than obstacle-finding, inspiration-dampening, deliberation.

The summer school student deserves all the rewards of worthy ambition.

Another good way to cure the sleeping disease is to monkey with the stock market.

Changing Age

without protest to what is sometimes called "God's will." But my answer is that blind resignation is neither faith nor virtue. It is slavery pure and simple. Forms of faith change—faith never. Obviously St. Paul was not unfamiliar with the changing forms of faith. For surely he was bound to know that his forms, drawn from military life, were different from Christ's forms, drawn from nature and pastoral life.

"I think, then, St. Paul is right, faith does abide; but we must be sure not to mistake forms for faith itself. Neither are we to confuse difficulties of faith with absence of faith. Because, then, you feel that every statement of faith ever framed fails to express your faith; and even because you yourself are unable to say just what you do believe, do not let any pious churchman convince you that you are without faith. I think it was Lord Tennyson who defined faith as "the soul's knowledge of God, just as love is our knowledge of one another." So long, then, as there are men to know God faith will abide.

"St. Paul's next abiding reality is HOPE. Now, faith has been defined as the UPWARD LOOK of the soul. If that is true, and I think that it is, then hope may be defined as the FORWARD LOOK of the soul. Certainly hope is the soul's optimism. It may, however, be objected just at this point, and not without a great deal of truth, that hope will not abide, that the race will in time outgrow it, because its only purpose is to create a "fools paradise" when the actual facts point in another direction. But that, my friends, is to confuse hope with foolhardiness. Foolhardiness is orthodoxy's substitute for hope, and substitutes are in time outgrown; but hope is to abide.

"Real hope, you will understand, is not so shallow as the hope defined by Aristotle, "A Waking Dream." The abiding hope, of which we are speaking, is founded not on dreams waking or sleeping, but on experience, and experience has taught us times without number that life is full of open doors leading into unexpected places of rest and quiet and even triumph. And it is because of this that hope is to abide. However, let us never forget that hope, life faith, is forever changing its forms and expressions.

"I can easily remember, and so can you, when the strongest of men hoped for a heaven where all they would have to do would be to play a harp and sing the song of Moses and the lamb throughout eternity. I do not know where you could find a man today who would care to go to such a place. Today the strongest and best of men hope for much bigger and better things. They like to hope that heaven is where God's will is completely done—where the right will always triumph over the wrong. They like too, to hope for an opportunity for unlimited advancement and progress. Evolution, so the biologists tell us, can proceed with its work after death as well as before death. That, I say, is our hope today. Now, it is not at all unlikely that our children will place their hopes upon still bigger and better things. But running in and through it all is that abiding, unchanging hope which man will never outgrow.

"The last abiding reality of which St. Paul speaks is LOVE. And love, he declared, is the greatest of the three. It is well for us to remember just here, as I have pointed out many times before, that the word here used is not one denoting affection. Rather it is a word suggesting the Christian law of fellowship and kindness and justice. One commentator clearly expresses himself on this noble word: "No flickering or wayward emotion, but the energy of a steadfast will bent on creating fellowship."

"It is quite significant that Jesus used the word in a most startling sentence: "Love your enemies." Now, affection cannot be meant by that word, for if so Jesus did not himself live up to it. Can you think of Him facing the scribes and pharisees and believe that Jesus held an affection for them? And we can also know from personal experiences that it is impossible for any one to feel affectionate towards those who have done him wrong. We must, then, rid the mind of sentimentality and even emotionalism, and leave love free to express character's cardinal ethic. See love as the opposite of selfishness. See it as a cool and deliberate will to create fellowship and right relations between men and nations. Then you will begin to understand why St. Paul calls it the greatest of all powers.

"By making love the most important of all things, St. Paul has here said a very startling thing: "Doubt your God if you must, despair of the future if you must, but, in peril of your soul, see that no shadow fall between you and your fellowmen." Here, at least, the light is clear. The man who is right with his fellowmen is, as Christ himself said, "not far from the kingdom of God."

Florence Atkinson Host To Friends At Lawn Party Here

Miss Florence Atkinson was hostess to her friends Tuesday evening when she entertained with a lawn party and tea at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Atkinson. The guests were divided into three groups, ex-students of Yoe High School, members of the 1929 class, and future graduates. Each of these groups wrote a prophecy concerning those present and these prophecies were read as a part of the program. Other entertainers were Miss Lucille Green and Charles Schaeg who sang solos, Bobby Lyon in readings, and Joe Roland and his orchestra of "Little Rollers." Following the program dancing was enjoyed.

The lawn was transformed into a beauty spot by colored lights and baskets of flowers which added to the attractiveness of the natural flowers growing there and in full bloom. Refreshments of punch and cakes were served during the evening.

Mrs. J. W. Coleman Is Hostess To Club

Mrs. J. W. Coleman entertained members of the As You Like It Club at the regular meeting held Wednesday afternoon. Guests other than members were Mesdames John A. Smith, T. A. Fisher, Jewel Barmore, M. G. Cox and L. C. Gayle.

At the end of an afternoon spent with needlework and in conversation the hostess served a salad and an ice.

BAPTIST CHURCH

Next Sunday, June 9, has been designated as Reunion Day at the Baptist church and an attempt is being made to have every member of the church attend at least one service during the day. Special programs have been arranged for the morning and evening services and attendance at Sunday School and B. Y. P. U. is also being urged. The program for the morning service will be as follows:

Doxology.
Prayer.
Hymn.
Chorus, "I Heard the Voice of Jesus (Wilson), choir.
Violin solo, Miss Imogene Sapp.
Duet, Misses Inez Evans and Doris Emily Moore.
Offering.

Mixed quartette, Mrs. Wilson Gunn, Miss Bess DuBois, Mr. Ray Burke, and Mr. John Hays.

Sermon, Rev. Hutcherson.
The order of service for the evening will be much the same with another anthem by the choir, a cornet solo by Nathan McGehee, a vocal solo by Miss Inez Evans, and another quartette.

Robbins and Kelly Are Made Colonels While Solons Cheer

Austin, Tex., June 4—Two modest Texans who last week shattered the world's endurance flight record in their sturdy craft, the "Fort Worth," yesterday became Lieut. Colonels Reg. L. Robbins and Jim Kelly amid spirited applause from both houses of the legislature.

The airmen, abashed at the reception given them, received the honorary titles from Governor Moody.

"Missouri made Lindbergh a colonel and Texas is as great a state as Missouri," the governor said in conferring the honorary posts on the two aviators. "Robbins and Kelly have set a new high mark for courage and endurance that deserves the admiration of all people."

Robbins and Kelly thanked the legislature for its ovation.

"Jesus And Common Sense" Sunday Text For Rev. Kenney.

H. G. Kenney will preach at the New Hefley Theater on Sunday as usual. The subject for the Sunday morning sermon will be "Jesus and Common Sense."

The committee in charge of the services invites the public to attend. The theater has been made comfortable for the services and Mr. Kenney has been preaching to large crowds.

Mr. and Mrs. Joyce Cox of Galveston were guests last Thursday of Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Cox.

Miss Florine Hobson has returned home from Baylor University where she has been in school during the winter.

Friends of Miss Nell Kennon will be interested in the following news item which appeared in Sunday's issue of a Waco paper: "Miss Nell Kennon's 5-B Class at South Eighth School has built a six-room house with breakfast room and porches attached. The walls are papered and draperies are being fastened to windows made of isinglass. Furniture is also being made and the house with its furnishings may be finished in time for the Cotton Palace to reflect credit on manual training in the schools."

All kind of Floor Coverings, see us, Exchange Furniture Co.

Miss Maude McGehee, bride-elect of Newton Smith of Houston, was named as honor guest last Thursday in Waco, when the principal and staff of teachers of the Columbus Avenue school were entertained at luncheon by twelve of the mothers of the school at the home of Mrs. J. E. Lindquist, 1009 Columbus Avenue. There are two bride-elect from this school, Miss McGehee and Miss Louise Bible, and in honor of them the place cards were in bridal design.

Messrs. Bob Boykin, Niley Smith and W. O. Newton and Frank Newton attended commencement exercises at A. & M. College Sunday. Mr. Boykin's son, Robert is a member of the graduating class at the college and he also attended further exercises there the first of the week. Mr. Smith and Mr. Newton are ex-students of A. & M. and they went Sunday expressly to attend a barbecue for former students which was served in the evening.

I WANT HELP!

I'VE got myself into a jam. I promised the Delco-Light home office that I'd run an ad in this space every other week. And now I don't know what to say. If I tell the truth about how good Delco-Light is, nobody will believe me. If I don't get more or less enthusiastic, nobody will come in and ask about Delco-Light. And that's the big idea back of these ads. Get people interested. Then sell them a Delco-Light. So if anybody has any good advertising ideas, please send them along. No pay, but lots of thanks. In the meanwhile—"stand by for further announcements."

THE ESSEX CAR

Is only one of the many desirable things we have in stock. It is the best of its kind, of course in our opinion. Equally as good in its way is the spirit of courtesy we put behind it, the maintenance system we provide for all its owners, the personal interest we take in each and every one of them, the conscientious effort we make to do things right and earn our customers friendship.

The Essex car is a great machine and deserves that kind of backing. But the credit for that goes to the Essex factory. We could not build it here if we wanted to but we can build a business atmosphere to match it in quality, and we work days and nights to accomplish that purpose.

The Essex owner is the judge of our success. Ask him about the spirit of our business.

COURT AMENDMENT VOTE ON JULY 16

SIX AIDES TO SUPREME COURT SOUGHT IN SENATE RESOLUTION

On July 16th the people of Texas will vote on a proposal to amend additional Judges for the Supreme extracts form the Senate Joint Resolution are printed so that the people may be better informed when they cast their ballots:

WHEREAS, the 41st Legislature, of Texas, at its Regular Session, submitted to a vote of the people a Constitutional Amendment providing for a Supreme Court to be composed of Nine Members, instead of the present Supreme Court of Three members, assisted by six Commissioners, drawing substantially the pay of Supreme Court Judges, but whose work must be reviewed and approved by the Supreme Court, and,

WHEREAS, the adoption of said increase the cost of our Supreme the injustice resulting from the laws' delay under the present system; and,

WHEREAS, the said amendment would also provide that the Supreme Court shall be open for the transaction of business throughout the year, instead of for only nine months, as required by the present provision of the Constitution; and,

WHEREAS, the 41st Legislature has also submitted to a vote of the people another Constitutional Amendment, providing that the Governor of Texas shall receive a salary of Ten Thousand Dollars per year, and no more, and,

WHEREAS, the adoption of this Constitutional Amendment is necessary in order to provide a living wage for the Governor of Texas, and to make it practicable for a citizen, not possessed of great wealth, to serve as Chief Executive without ruinous sacrifice, and,

WHEREAS, both of said Constitutional Amendments are to be voted upon at a Special Election to be held in every voting precinct in Texas on Tuesday, the 16th day of July, 1929, and,

WHEREAS, regardless of the merits of the proposals involved in said Constitutional Amendments, respectively, it is highly desirable and important that as nearly as possible, every qualified voter shall go to the polls on said date, Tuesday, July 16th, 1929, and vote upon both Amendments, now therefore, be it, RESOLVED, BY THE SENATE OF TEXAS, THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES CONCURRING THEREIN:

SPORTS

Cameron has every reason to be proud of its graduates. Two of the largest educational institutions in the state have honored Cameron boys with athletic honors. The Texas Frank Mondrik its captain while A. & M. chose Ed Thompson as their leader. Both of these men have been prominent in intercollegiate athletic circles and their choice is a good one.

Ed Thompson is the star half miler for the Aggies and it was due to his ability upon the cinder track that the Aggies are now Southwest Conference track champions. It will be remembered that Ed while a Yoemen was an outstanding performer and much was predicted for him. It is gratifying to know that he has delivered the goods.

Another Cameron product of whom much will be expected is Don Slocumb of the Aggie squad of cinder artists. He is a hurdler of no mean ability. It was our own Frank Mondrik of the Longhorns who pushed him to make him win in the recent conference meet. He is at home on either the high or low barriers.

The National League is furnishing the hot stove league something to talk about. The Pittsburgh Pirates are making things hot for the Chicago Cubs and have attained league leadership for a while. It will be interesting to watch the records of the Waner boys, to see if they can come through as they have in the past. The Cubs have a fine team. Their pitching strength is their mainstay and much of the burden of winning will be placed upon the shoulder of Uhle, who is in a class by himself in the senior league.

The Brooklyn Robins are conceded one place in the race and that place is the cellar. Wilbur Robinson has probably the hardest luck of any big league manager. In addition to being the manager, he is owner of a large share of the stock of the club and this makes the breaks seem all the worse to him. Even Dazzy Vance is unable to stem the tide.

Miller Huggins now knows what it is to be out of first position in the league standing. There is no doubt of his being a clever manager but the best of managers cannot produce a winner without the proper material. The big seige guns of the Yanks are silenced more than ever this year. The pitching is much weaker but in spite of this, they have the uncanny knack of winning games when they are needed and this may put the Yanks at the top.

Ray Keech won the Annual Memorial Day auto classic at Indianapolis last Thursday in as stirring a finish as was ever seen on this historic track. The race was marred by two serious accidents in which one was killed and another was injured. In the old days of racing when two driver cars were used, it was a common occurrence for both drivers to be killed should a bad spill occur, but the single seater light car has eliminated this to a large extent. In addition to more speed, the small car is safer and much easier to handle. However, the two seater is coming back. Another innovation in the racing car field is the front wheel drive which makes for better control and still safer driving. One of these cars was entered in the race last Thursday.

The time of the race this year was less than last year but Keech was by no means slow on the track. His breath taking turns were the sensation of the meet and he furnished the spectators some real thrills. His ability to make these turns at break neck speed enabled him to win by two laps. It will be remembered that it was Ray Keech who established a world's record for straight away driving last year at Daytona Beach in the ill fated White Triplex racer. His record then was 207 miles per hour and stood until Major Segrave beat it recently with a speed of 231 miles per hour. Lee Bible lost his life in the attempted run to break this record in the giant Triplex.

Bobby Jones lost his bag of favorite golf club last week but soon found them which brings to mind the habit that Bobby has of winning golf titles. It seems that whenever he enters a match, it is a foregone conclusion that he will come away with the prize. The Atlanta Barrister is not an easy player. He studies his game intently, too intently some say, and cannot relax. He plays as if everything is contingent upon his winning. In contrast to this is the easy going style and play of Walter Hagen who far outclasses any other professional golfer.

LaGrange Bank Opens For Business Again

The First National Bank of La Grange which voluntarily closed its doors three weeks ago, opened its doors Monday morning after receiving a telegram from Washington authorizing the examiner to turn the affairs of the bank over to the board of directors and officials. Stacks of money were on hand to greet the line of people who came, not to draw their money, but to resume business. Depositors did not lose a cent, and the only change is that the bank is reorganized with a new cashier and assistant cashier.—Giddings News.

A SERIOUS CHANGE

Kentucky Lady Was Seriously
Ill for Months But Was Finally Relieved By
Cardui.

Lawrenceburg, Ky.—"At a time in my life, when my health was undergoing a serious change," says Mrs. J. C. Ray, who lives near here, "I found Cardui to be of the greatest benefit to me. I was seriously ill for about two months, and for several months I was not well. My nerves were all unstrung. I could not bear the least noise around me. I could not sleep.

"My head ached until it seemed as if it would burst. My feet and limbs swelled dreadfully. I felt tired all the time. When I was up, I dragged around the house, but most of the time I spent on the bed.

"I got Cardui and began taking it regularly. Very soon I could see that it was helping me. I began to sleep better and eat more. The awful nervousness got better.

"When I had finished the first bottle, I was much better than I had been for many weeks. I was so encouraged that I kept right on. Before very long I was doing all my housework and was feeling quite well."

Thousands of other women have been helped by Cardui after long suffering from weakness and nervousness.

LONE STAR GAS COMPANY BEGAN THESE 20 YEARS OF SERVICE

This June, Lone Star Gas Company rounds out its first 20 years of service. Twenty years! And what eventful years! The fastest moving 20 years in the world's history! The 20 years during which the Southwest has had its greatest growth!

To meet the growing natural gas demands of an ever increasing number of Texas and Oklahoma communities has been Lone Star's part in this swift development . . . and we have tried to play it well! These 20 years have brought a greatly increased use of natural gas, with many new gas uses unknown 20 years ago. Gas refrigeration, for instance!

Natural gas . . . supplied through Lone Star pipe lines to nearly 250 communities and more than a million people . . . is one of the Southwest's greatest assets. Much of the Southwest's growth in the next 20 years will come from the industrial utilization of this rich fuel resource, and the Lone Star organization will continue to play a big part in this development.

As we reach the 20th milestone, we pause an instant for a brief backward glance at the trials and triumphs of the past . . . then we face . . . FORWARD!

LINDBERGH'S SPEND HONEYMOON CRUISING ON LONG ISLAND SOUND ON NEW MOTOR BOAT, MOUETTE

New London, Conn., June 3.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and his bride, who was Miss Anne Morrow, went to sea for their honeymoon. In a new 38-foot motor boat, the Mouette, they have been cruising in Long Island Sound since their marriage at Englewood, N. J., a week ago, probably tying up in some quiet harbor along the Long Island shore each night.

Just at present it is believed the Mouette is off the tip of Long Island heading for Boston in a leisurely way.

On Saturday afternoon a new boat with a tall, light-haired young man at the wheel, put in at Block Island for gas and oil, and Capt. Louis Rounds of the Elizabeth Ann gave him a helping hand to tie up. In the pilot house there was an exchange of seafaring and other talk, and the yachtsman admitted to Capt. Rounds that he was the colonel.

The Mouette was supplied with necessities and Colonel Lindbergh took on a barrel of water as well, and after a short stay left for a cross-sound trip which would have brought the craft to Montauk Point.

Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh eluded everybody a week ago this afternoon when they took their departure from the home of Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow at Englewood. Since then the air and land have been searched for the honeymooners. Not a trace of them apparently could be found, although Dame Rumor had them at various places in the country.

The yachtsman told Capt. Rounds and his mate, Raymond Abell, that he had crossed from Port Jefferson, L. I., which is about opposite Bridgeport Conn., but the chart on the pilot house table indicated that the Mouette had crossed from a point close to the tip of Long Island, where there are many inlets and small harbors in which a craft could anchor and, at this season, be alone for days at a time. A cruise along the Long Island side of the sound is regarded by yachtsmen as almost ideal in its marine pleasures and last week had all the lure of a midsummer cruise.

NEW CURRENCY EXHIBIT

The exact size of the New United States Paper Currency which is to be placed in circulation about July 1929, is shown by the diagram below, and will bear the following portraits:

$1.00	Washington	$10.00	Hamilton	$100.00	Franklin
$2.00	Jefferson	$20.00	Jackson	$500.00	McKinley
$5.00	Lincoln	$50.00	Grant	$1,000.00	Cleveland
	$5,000.00	Madison	$10,000.00	Chase

New Small-Size Currency

A set of this new currency, consisting of one each of the $10.00, $5.00, $2.00 and $1.00 bills is now on display at the Citizens National Bank and we cordially invite the public to visit this exhibit of the New Currency at our bank and see the new designs and sizes. This set of the new currency is for exhibition only, and distribution will not be made until some time in July.

This currency is considerably smaller in size than the old currency but of course is worth one hundred cents on the dollar. By the use of the smaller bills the government will save millions annually in paper and ink.

NOTICE TO WATER CONSUMERS

It has come to the attention of the City Council that minimum charges of $2 are being made against some patrons of the water company.

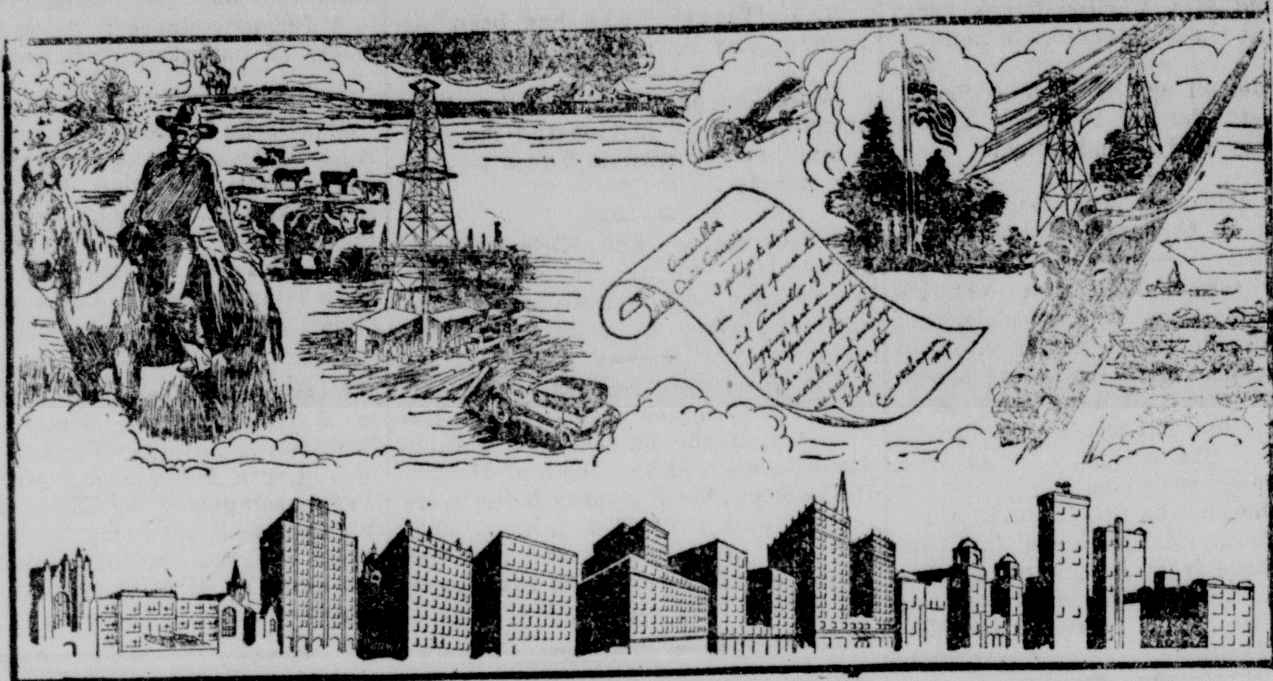

The contract price with the water company sets the minimum charge at $1.00 and a meter charge of 25c. At no time should minimum accounts be over $1.25.

Minimum accounts are those who have a hydrant and no bath or toilet charges as per contract. Rates are set out in the contract and consumers should not pay more than the contract price.

AMARILLO'S CIVIC CONSCIOUSNESS

BUILDING YOUNG TEXANS INTO AMERICAN PATRIOTS

"The hope of civilization is respect for vested authority. We would teach this respect thru the symbol of the flag."—Mayor Ernest O. Thompson.

Amarillo, the Helium City of the Texas Panhandle, is committed by its new mayor to the highest standards of citizenship. It would rid itself of bootleggers, end professional gambling and tone up its morals. It would also teach respect for vested authority, through the symbol of the flag in the public schools.

Thirty years ago Col. Ernest O. Thompson was selling papers on the streets of Amarillo. He made a brilliant war record. Today he owns two hotels with a thousand rooms in his home city, and other hotels and investments in and out of Amarillo. In the campaign for mayor, against three opponents he received 75 per cent of the votes.

Paul V. McNutt, national commander of the American Legion, came to Amarillo to assist at the inauguration. In the ceremony he presented the new mayor with a silken flag in the name of the Legion.

The presentation planted an idea in Mayor Thompson's mind. It is so far-reaching and powerful in the possibilities for building good citizenship that some men of national standing who have heard of it are ready to give the means that will carry it into every part of the country. The American Legion will have its share in the work. The newspapers will participate.

The aim is to teach greater respect for the flag in the public schools. Thompson plans to start it in his home town. A flag will be prepared for presentation to each school room. The newspapers will run a series of questions and answers that will make up a thrilling history of the flag. Every star and every stripe will have its story painted against a background of fascinating human interest. The imagination of the mind of youth will be appealed to.

The honor pupil in each room who makes the best study will receive a flag for his class. It will belong to the room forever. Flag presentation day will be a gala event. Hundreds of honor pupils will bank themselves on the stage of the City Auditorium as they receive the classroom trophy.

"The great purpose of the flag study is to foster a love of country and a sacred regard for law," says Mayor Thompson. "I have set the example for the city by pledging to do all in my power to rid Amarillo of bootleggers, end professional gambling and tone up the city's morals. I

DR. JOHN DENSON TO PRESENT
AWARDS FOR THE AMERICAN LEGION

The American Legion Scholarship Awards were made at the commencement exercises of the Ada Henderson School in the Ada Henderson Auditorium at ten o'clock Wednesday morning, June 5. The awards were bronze medals and were presented to the most outstanding boy and girl in the grammar grades by Dr. John Denson.

The winners of the awards have been announced by the Legion Committee, Teachers Committee of the Ada Henderson School and the student body of the school. The winners are as follows:

Boy—Julian Freeman.

Girl—Louise Owens.

Buck Price and Ray Burke received honorable mention among the boys and Jane Tyson and Madie Watson received mention among the girls. The awards were made on the basis of twenty per cent for each of the following qualities:

"Honor: Strength and stability of character, high standards of conduct, keen sense of what is right, adherence to truth and conscience devotion to duty and practice of clean speech."

"Courage: Bravery in the face of opposition and danger, and grit to stand up for the right and do one's duty."

"Scholarship: Scholastic attainment, evidence of industry and application in studies."

"Service: Kindliness, unselfishness, fellowship, protection of the weak and promotion of the interests and welfare of associates without hope of personal reward."

"Leadership: Ability to lead and to accomplish through group action."

ROCKDALE FARMERS INTERESTED IN MILK

ANNUAL PROGRAM TO INCLUDE FIREWORKS, HORSE RACES AND BASEBALL

Fireworks, horse races, baseball games, and a comedy fire drill are the headliners in the Fourth of July Celebration to be staged by Carlisle Post No. 358, American Legion in Rockdale on Thursday, July 4, according to advance announcements made by members of the Legion Post this week. These celebrations are annual events of the local American Legion.

The arrangement of the program for this year has been under consideration for some time and the tentative program was announced this week. It is understood that work will begin in the near future on preparation of the fair grounds and race track for the celebration.

The program at this time calls for a comedy fire drill by the local fire department, and a street parade in the morning. Prizes, to be announced later, will be offered to the best entries in the parade. Band music will be furnished throughout the day by Moulton Legion Band of Moulton, Texas, the same band that was secured for the celebration last year, and a band that is recognized as one of the outstanding musical organizations of the state.

In the afternoon three horse races will be held, with attractive purses in each event. A baseball game will also be included in the afternoon's program, the teams yet to be announced.

As a concluding feature of the day the Legion has arranged for a fireworks display that they declare will be one of the best ever seen in Rockdale. A dance at the fair park pavilion in the evening will constitute the grand finale to the day's program.

With a reputation for always being an entertainment de luxe, the local American Legion celebrations each year have drawn large crowds to Rockdale. Officials state that they are preparing a program for this year that they believe will surpass anything given in the past. Further announcements will be made at a later date.—Rockdale Reporter.

WHAT WE THINK

By FRANK DIXON

Some of our good farmer friends, who, notwithstanding the reverses they have suffered the past few years still have a keen sense of humor, have made a few suggestions to us regarding this "farm relief" problem which is to be taken up by Congress in special session.

No. 1. No farmer can be a happy, successful farmer who is in debt. The first job of the Government should be that of getting every farmer out of debt. He shouldn't have anything to "worry him" and if the Government will just cancel a few of those "junket trips," the account will be about even.

No. 2. No farmer's wife can be happy not to have the modern conveniences of her sister who lives in the city. These cold wintry blasts of the midnight carrying a lantern, wouldn't make anybody happy. Let the Government build a modern home on every farm, equipped with every modern convenience, electric washing machine, electric churn, electric ice box, electric mangle, electric iron, electric hair curler, etc.

No. 3. No farmer can be a successful farmer without an up-to-date radio to get the market reports and baseball scores. The Government should standardize on some radio equipment and see that every farmer is furnished with one of them and an inspector to see to it that they are kept in perfect working order—keep his batteries charged at "no charge."

No. 4. No farm home is going to be complete without a modern Victrola so the young folk can have their "Jazz." If you expect to keep the young folks in the farm, you have to entertain them. So let the Government see to it that every home has an up-to-date Orthophrone Victrola and a selection of say 200 records, and insist on furnishing one each of the following records: "America," "Star Spangled Banner," "Nearer My God to Thee," "Silver Threads Among the Gold," and the balance Jazz. Just listened to a new one the other night, "Kiss Me for an Hour and See if I Will Scream." They say that everything is in the name you give a song. It ought to be.

No. 5. The farmer's home should have plenty of spacious room for dancing and church socials with spare bed rooms and sleeping porches and "cold rooms," air tight and sound proof.

No. 6. And then the barn should be equipped with the latest equipment for the efficient care of stock. Equipped with electric lights, electric hay forks, electric manure trams, hot and cold water and all that goes to make a modern barn. The Government should see to it that every farm is equipped with one of these barns and then every farm should have a shed for tools with a blacksmith shop and repair shop in addition to a milk house with electric separator, frigid air plant, etc.

No. 7. And then again, let's make our farms modern with the use of trucks, tractors and automobiles and have a sufficient number of them to do it right. Every farmer should have one big sedan and sufficient small cars for every member of the family. Possibly the Government might be able to make a contract with our "antique collector" friend who has practically all of the money of the world in his corn crib, to fully equip every farm on a "standard" basis. He has them pretty golden near standardized already and it wouldn't cost the Government much more.

No. 8. And then again, the farmer's daughter does not have the advantages of the city girl. Therefore, every farmer's daughter should be an heiress. Let the Government settle a good legacy on each farmer's daughter and then watch these "hatless, sleek-haired, cigarette pushing sheiks" from the city go after one of these heiresses. The only thing she will have to do is to learn the manly art of self defense.

No. 9. And then if the Government does all of this for the farmer let the Government protect the farmer from the flood of shyster promoters who make life miserable for them. The flood of waters hasn't done one one-hundredth of the damage to the farmers that the flood of these shyster promoters has, selling swamp lands, sand dunes, the Brooklyn Bridge and the State House Dome to our good farmer friends.

Understand that a couple of weeks ago one of "them slickers" caught a good farmer from Iowa in Los Angeles and sold him the flowers in the city parks for $500 and then when the farmer started cutting the flowers to market, the police interfered.

No. 10. And then again, make it compulsory for any farmer wanting to borrow money to have the personal endorsement of the Senator from his district who will be responsible for the note if the farmer does not pay it.

No. 11. And then establish a minimum of prices for the farm product which will enable them to amass fortunes the same as the undertakers and barbers do. Establish a minimum price of $3.00 a bushel for wheat and 25c a loaf for bread, $5 a bushel or $6.00 a quart for rye, a price of $2.00 a bushel or $4.00 a quart for corn, and so on, far into the night.

No. 12. Let these darned city dudes pay the price they should for the farmers' product and then watch this

"back to the farm" movement.

No. 13. If the coming session of Congress will just take these suggestions this may be about the last letter you will get from the writer. Just watch me buy a farm fully equipped with White Leghorn cows, Duroc chickens, those Yellow Jersey Pigs, and Shorthorn sheep. Will raise such and bologna by the bushel and Rocky Mountain Oysters by the quart.

No. 14. As I have said before, let the Government establish the price. The orange and lemon grower and the potato growers let thousands of bushels rot on the ground so as to maintain the price. Why shouldn't the Government give the farmer this same protection? If the merchants or they are investigated by the Federal manufacturers make the same price Trade Commission. They ought to be. They shouldn't be in that business. They should be farmers.

No. 15. If the government is going to give a real farm relief, let them be real sports and not be picayunish about it. Treat the farmer right and in such a manner that he will be proud of his government.

No. 16. Write or telegraph your Congressman immediately giving him these suggestions and every farm in the United States will be occupied

ANN RUTH JOHNSON OF GIDDINGS BECOMES BRIDE OF LELAND DENSON OF CAMERON ON MONDAY MORNING

The wedding of Dr. Leland Denson and Miss Ann Ruth Johnson of Giddings was solemnized Monday morning, June 3, at 10:30 o'clock at the First Presbyterian church at Giddings, with Dr. Jacobs of Austin performing the ring ceremony.

The altar at the church was massed with palms and ferns, and interspersed among them were baskets of pink roses, the colors chosen by the bride being pink and azure blue.

Preceding the entrance of the bridal party, a short musical program was rendered consisting of a violin solo, "At Dawning" and a vocal solo, "Until I Am Called to the Master Above," accompanied with organ and violin. The mother of the bride, Mrs. J. Johnson, played the wedding processional and recessional and the accompaniments for the soloists.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attended by her three sisters as matron-of-honor, maid-of-honor, and bridesmaid. She was gowned in azure blue crepe chiffon, blue satin slippers and pink horsehair braid hat, and she carried a shower bouquet of pink roses and lilies-of-the-valley. Her nephew was ring bearer and her niece flower girl. Her attendants all wore dresses of azure blue, and those of the musical party were dressed in the contrasting pink.

Dr. Denson was accompanied by his brother, Lane Denson, as best man, and ushers were Dr. Harlan of Kings Daughters Hospital, Temple, and a brother of the bride. The men of the wedding party wore white linen suits black ties and black shoes.

Following the ceremony, the bride and groom left for points in South Texas and will be at home at Temple after July 1.

Mrs. Denson is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John Johnson of Giddings. After being graduated from the College of Industrial Arts at Denton, she attended the University of Texas for one year, where she was assistant athletic director for women. For the past two years she has been in Houston acting as athletic director at the Y. W. C. A.

Dr. Denson, the son of Dr. and Mrs. John Denson, was reared in Cameron. He graduated from the State Medical School at Galveston, and since that time has been associated with Kings Daughters Hospital at Temple.

Dora Emily Moore Entertains Seniors At Farewell Party

A farewell courtesy for the members of the senior class was tendered Wednesday evening following the commencement exercises, with Miss Dora Emily Moore hostess at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George T. Moore. It was a smartly appointed affair in every detail, with gay Japanese lanterns on the lawn and the porch extending a bright welcome, and with the rooms inside decorated profusely with flowers in the chosen class colors, purple and gold.

Girls of the junior class assisted in entertaining. Misses Cora Bar-more and Nancy Rae Slocomb presided over the guest book in a room which was a bower of shasta daisies. Misses Velma Newton and Estelle Turney served punch on the porch, and assisting in the dining room were Misses Mary McDermott, Bonnelle Neinst, Frances Sharpe and Dorothy Joynes.

The table in the dining room was centered with a mound of purple and gold flowers and around these were four brass candlesticks holding lighted golden tapers. An inverted parasol of gold cloth was fastened under the chandelier, and this had the appearance of a large gold dome. The guests were served brick ice cream in lavender and gold and cakes iced in gold. Favors were miniature diplomas tied with ribbon in the chosen colors.

Later in the evening dancing was a diversion.

Radio Program For Bride and Groom On Monday Morning

As a courtesy to his life-long friend, Leland Denson, and to the latter's bride, the former Miss Ann Ruth Johnson of Giddings, Robert S. Pool gave a program over radio station WFAA Monday morning at eight o'clock and dedicated it to the couple, who were married that morning two hours later.

Mr. Pool sang three bridal songs: "At Dawning," "Oh, Tis Not Because Your Heart Is Mine," and "Oh Perfect Love." At the conclusion of the last one, the accompanist went immediately into the wedding march and played a few short strains of it. Then the announcer of station WFAA, reading for Mr. Pool, gave a poem, in which was expressed his good wish for the happiness of the bride and groom.

The following people from Cameron attended a district convention of the Christian church held at Temple Tuesday: Mrs. Martin Kilian and daughter, Frances, Mrs. Guy Slocomb, Mrs. Ray Burke and Ray Jr., Mrs. Raymond Beard, Mr. V. P. Wooley and Rev. Clyde Yarbrough.

Excursions For Big Pulchritude Fest In Galveston June 8-12

Scores of excursions are being planned into Galveston for the Tenth Annual International Pageant of Pulchritude which will be held in that city June 8-12, 1929.

Galveston has planned a very extensive program for the visitors to the International Pageant of Pulchritude. This year there will be entries from England, Germany, Roumania, Luxembourg, France, Austria, Spain, Holland, Cuba, Mexico and Brazil, as well as from a score or more of the larger cities throughout the United States.

On Saturday, June 8th at 5:00 P. M., the contestants will appear on miniature decorated floats. Sport clothes or afternoon frocks will be worn and on June 9 at 3:00 P. M., contestants will appear in fancy bathing costumes on Galveston's Famous Boulevard. On Monday June 10, the elimination contest for the selection of Miss United States will be held at the City Auditorium at 8:00 P. M. On June 11 at the City Auditorium Miss United States will compete with all foreign countries for the title of Miss Universe. Contestants, on this night, will appear in evening and bathing costumes.

The Santa Fe has announced very low rates from all points on its lines in Texas and will operate a special train leaving Cameron at 2:45 A. M., Sunday morning June 9th, arriving in Galveston at 8:00 A. M., returning leave Galveston 8:00 P. M., Sunday night. The round trip fare from Cameron will be $4.00.

W. L. LAWRENCE

Funeral services for W. L. Lawrence, whose body arrived in Cameron over the Santa Fe from Oklahoma City Friday afternoon, were held Saturday morning at nine o'clock from the Presbyterian church with Rev. J. P. Love, officiating. The deceased was a brother of C. W. Lawrence of Cameron.

Interment was in the Milano Cemetery. Pall bearers were Dr. James Watson, Preston Graves, R. H. McIntosh, Robert McLane, Ernest Egert, Judge John Watson, Graham Gillis and John Williams.

Mr. Lawrence is survived by five children, two sons and three daughters.

CITIZENS BANK HAS NEW CURRENCY DISPLAY

FIRST SHOWING OF NEW MONEY ANNOUNCED BY BIG BANK HERE

The Citizens National Bank of Cameron has received for display a set of the New United States paper currency, the first to be issued by the government and which will be placed in general circulation about the middle of July 1929.

The new currency having arrived at the bank early this week, came ahead of anticipated date and no advance invitation to attend the exhibit could be given. The bank through its officers extends to the public a cordial invitation to attend the display of this new currency and to see the new designs and sizes of the money.

Included in the display, according to Oxsheer Smith, president of the bank, are the new ten, five, two and one dollar bills. The new size is considerably smaller than the currency which has been in circulation for the past fifty years or more and will displace the old currency as rapidly as the old bills are worn out and retired from circulation.

Each new bill of any denomination ranging from one to ten thousand dollar bills, unlike the old currency, will bear the same portrait. It is explained that the $2 bill will all bear the portrait of Jefferson and all the $100 bills will bear the portrait of Franklin. The $1 bills will have the portrait of Washington.

This distinctive feature of the new money will help tellers to avoid confusion in the counting of currency. Every bill will be the same and may be distinguished immediately from the others by the photo.

Besides the convenience in size and appearance the government will save millions each year in the matter of paper and ink.

The Citizens National Bank is advertising the display of the new currency in this issue of The Herald and you are invited to visit the bank and see the new money.

83 GRADUATES FROM THE SEVENTH GRADE

AWARDS MADE FOR VARIOUS ATTAINMENTS IN THE DEPARTMENTS

Eighty-three students were graduated from the seventh grade this year at exercises held Wednesday morning at ten o'clock at the Ada Henderson Auditorium.

Miss Helen Flinn played the professional as the class entered and then the invocation was given by Viola Sustek, a member of the class. The entire group sang "The Eyes of Texas," after which Ray Burke Jr., second highest honor student, delivered the salutatory address. An annual custom was observed when Maide Watson on behalf of the class presented its parting gift to the school, a picture from one of the masters, Julian Freeman, who announced the numbers of the program, also gave the class review and this was followed by a song, "The Evening Bells," by eight members of the class: Jane Tyson, Beulah Collier, Maide Watson, Virginia Ledbetter, Julian Freeman, Ray Burke, Jr., Maide McDermott and John Watson, Jr.

Dr. John Denson, representing the American Legion, presented to the two students, boy and girl, of the class who received the greatest number of votes in a contest in which five qualifications, honor, courage, scholarship, leadership and service, were factors considered. These medals were won by Julian Freeman and Louise Owens. In making these awards Dr. Denson said that the American Legion sponsored the contest in an attempt to encourage the youth of America, and that it was conceived after the close of the World War when it was discovered that so many of the soldiers were lacking in education, honor, courage, leadership and physical efficiency.

Louise Owens, first honor student, delivered the valedictory address, after which Mrs. W. O. Triggs, member of the Cameron Board of Education, addressed the class and awarded diplomas and certificates. In her preliminary words, Mrs. Triggs urged the students to continue their pursuit of education on into high school and to determine early what they are to do and be in life and work towards that end. "The world has always looked for leadership, and it is looking more now than ever," she declared. "There is no limit to the length to which boys and girls of America today can go if they only have the will to do it." As an example, she cited the man who recently became president of Chicago University at the age of thirty years, saying that he worked his way through college washing dishes.

CHIEF THOMAS TO LEAD CAMERON MEN TO CONVENTION NEXT WEEK

The Texas Volunteer Firemen's Convention will meet in Galveston on June 11, 12 and 13th and Cameron will be represented by a large delegation of firemen and their wives and a racing team under Captain W. T. Turner to compete in the races for the cups and prizes.

Chief Monta Thomas will lead the delegation to the ocean city for the three days celebration.

The racing team under Captain Turner is one of the fastest teams ever sent out of this city to compete in the races. Cameron teams in the past years have made history in these events and the people here this year are looking forward to a triumph at the Galveston meeting.

The following will go to the convention: Chief Monta Thomas; Assistant chief, Sam McDermott; Captain W. T. Turner, Joe Richter, Pete Kunz, Bill Marek, Oscar Schiller, Vaughn Jenness, Albert Richter, Ludwig Matula, Bill Richter, Earl Thompson, Frank Richter, Bill Cook, Henderson Thompson. Those accompanying the racing team are Larry Hackebell and wife, E. O. Schiller and family, Sam McDermott and family, Bill Marek and family, 'Stack' Baggett, Chas. Walzel, Ben Mikula and Miss Julia Macal.

Temple Business Men Coming Here June 11

Business men of Temple in a good will tour of this section will be in Cameron Tuesday June 11 at 10:20 a.m. The delegation will be accompanied here by the Drum and Bugle Corps of the American Legion. Souvenirs will be distributed and no goods of any kind will be sold.

The business men of Temple thru the Chamber of Commerce make an annual trip thru the territory.

Father Kacer Going To Europe For Visit

The Herald is in receipt of a card from Rev. Father K. Kacer, pastor of the Catholic church at Marak, requesting change in mailing his paper. He is leaving for Europe where he will visit for some time.

Father Kacer has been active as pastor at Marak for a number of years and the trip to Europe will be of great help to him and a splendid vacation.

ARTHUR M. HYDE IS CALLED TO PASTORATE

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH HERE ANNOUNCES PASTOR FOR LEADERSHIP

The Christian church has secured temporary pastoral leadership for the congregation. Pastor-Evangelist Arthur M. Hyde, of the Texas Christian Missionary Society, who recently conducted a three weeks meeting for the church, is to serve the congregation two Sundays each month and to spend eight week days in pastoral labors. The arrangement calls for ten consecutive days with the church each month. Every ten-day period is to embrace two Sundays, which, according to the arrangement, are designated as the last Sunday of each month and the first Sunday of the following month.

This arrangement is to continue until such time as a permanent pastor is secured for the congregation. Also it is hoped that the unsupplied Sundays may be filled to the satisfaction of the entire membership. Rev. Clyde Yarbrough, whom we all know and love, has been asked to fill the pulpit on vacant Sundays in June and July. It is sincerely hoped that he may find it possible to supply on these dates. The committee will advise the public through the press and the church Bulletin what the weekly program will be.

J. D. Eplen, chairman
V. P. Woolley
R. Beard.

Pulpit Supply Committee.

Rev. Clyde Yarbrough will preach at the Christian church at both hours on Sunday.

Mrs. L. Ransom, who has been rooming with Miss Mollie Allen for the past winter, is moving to the Valley this week.

EDUCATION A LIFE PROCESS SAYS DEAN SHELBY IN TALK TO GRADUATES

70 Receive Diplomas
At Close School Here

Using as his subject "Education as a Life Process," Dr. T. H. Shelby, Dean of the Division of Extension, University of Texas, was the principal speaker at the high school graduation exercises, held Wednesday evening at eight o'clock at the High School Auditorium, at which time seventy students were given diplomas.

Dean Shelby, who was introduced by his friend, Superintendent T. A. Fisher, named four qualities of a fine mind, humility, curiosity or intellectual appetite, courage and a feeling of responsibility and then proceeded to discuss each one separately. Humility, he said, is a feeling of one's own unimportance in this world; that in the presence of the vast storehouse of learning in this world, the real man or woman will hang his head in humility, and that in the presence of the Creator, man must realize his own unimportance. In discussing the second quality, he said that a desire to know, to dig in, to understand, to ferret out, was evidence of an educated person. Courage was considered in two respects; intellectual and moral courage, both of which in the end mean that a real man must stand up for the thing he thinks is right and best. Quoting another, Dr. Shelby said he was prone to agree that students in high school and particularly in college are predatory animals, and he urged the members of the graduating class to go forth not using their knowledge only to gather for themselves, but in such a way that when they have finished the course the world will be a better place for their having lived in it.

"Education as a life process is something that must take hold of an individual," he declared. He stated further that the acquiring of knowledge is largely a matter of habit, habit in concentration and in thoroughness. In concluding he quoted the statement, "What I am to be, I am now becoming," and impressed the class with the necessity of beginning now to prepare to grasp the opportunities within reach, the like of which have never been known before.

The highest honor student of the class, Geraldine Slaughter, in her valedictory address expressed gratitude to the parents of the class members, to the teachers, and for the institution of which they were part. An interesting and unusual part of the program was the salutatory address made by Lois and Ruby Robbins, twin daughters of Mrs. K. K. Robbins, who tie for second highest honors. Each of them gave a short address and ended with a poem which they recited alternately.

Musical numbers on the program consisted of a piano solo, "Kamenoi Ostrow" (Rubenstein) by Miss Geraldine Slaughter; a vocal solo, "Summertime" (Saidee Burgoon) by Miss Inez Evans; a vocal duet, "Greeting to Spring" (Strauss) by Misses Dora Emily Moore and Inez Evans; and a vocal solo, "Perfect Day" (Bond), by Miss Florence Atkinson. Miss Lucille Dickard played the professional and the recessional. Rev. H. G. Kenney gave the invocation and Rev. J. P. Love of the Episcopal church pronounced the benediction.

Mr. T. A. Fisher, superintendent of schools, announced that scholarships from the Texas Association of Colleges had been won by Miss Geraldine Slaughter and Gilbert McCollum, highest honor students among girls and boys respectively.

Diplomas were presented by Mr. O. L. Kidd, president of the Board of Education, who made a short preliminary address to the class.

New Marriage License Applications Received

Applications for marriage license to be signed by both parties to the contract have been received at the office of Homer Nabours, county clerk. These applications to be filled out three days before the marriage license is issued are required under the new law passed by the last session of the legislature.

Mr. Nabours is in Fort Worth this week attending the convention of the county clerks of Texas and expects to return to the city about Monday.

Up to this time about 100 Notary Publics have been qualified. June 10 is the last date on which a notary may qualify. There remain some 80 notaries to qualify in the county.

Borden Dairy Men In Cameron To Visit At Local Milk Plant

J. B. Snider, field superintendent for the Borden Milk plant at Waco and E. E. Waters, superintendent of the factory there, were in Cameron Wednesday to visit with J. C. Tucker of the local plant and to give encouragement to the dairy industry here.

They made a short auto trip thru the territory here and got first hand information as to possibilities here. The Borden company is interested in the success of the dairy industry in all parts of the state and their visit here was one of encouragement for the local plant.

RIG ARRIVES HERE FOR WILLIAMS TEST WELL

WELL TO BE DRILLED 3500 FEET ON CAREFUL LOCATION EAST OF CITY

The rotary rig for the Elbert Williams 3500 foot deep test well on the Tom Schigut farm east of Cameron was received this week and is being installed at the 112 foot derrick.

Due to high waters and bad road conditions the delivery of the rig was delayed. The rig came from Luling having been used there in drilling the wells of that field.

The location for this test is considered the most promising yet made in this section of the county. It follows the old geological survey made by the United States Government and local men interested in the development of the territory believe oil will be located here.

Mr. Williams hopes to spud in this well within a short time and it will be drilled to completion some time this summer, possibly by the middle of August.

MISS C. BLASIENZ IS BURIED AT CALVERT

FORMER RESIDENT OF MILAM COUNTY DIES IN HOUSTON SUNDAY, JUNE 2

Funeral services for Miss Cleveland Blasienz of 706 Holman street, Houston, who died at a local hospital was held at Calvert at 4 p. m. Monday, the body being forwarded to that place at 11:30 p. m. Sunday by Settegast-Kopf company. Miss Blasienz was for the past eight years an instructor in the Montrose school, a member of the First Methodist church at Houston and member of the O. E. S. at Calvert. She is survived by three brothers, Tom and Jerry Blasienz of Calvert, and Earl Blasienz of Rosebud; two sisters, Mrs. Ernest C. Goggs of Tyler and Mrs. Ernest C. Hill of El Dorado.

Miss Blasienz was a niece of Mrs. Ida Avriett, of Cameron. She was born at Maysfield in Milam county and was known to a wide circle of friends and relatives in this section. Miss Blasienz had given her life to the profession of teaching beginning a number of years ago in Milam county rural schools. At Houston she was one of the most efficient members of the educational staff of that city and had endeared herself to a wide circle of friends.

Those attending the funeral from Cameron were Mrs. Ida Avriett, Mrs. W. O. Triggs, Giles L. Avriett, Mrs. Wm. Rogers, W. O. Triggs, Miss Myrtle Avriett, Mrs. L. L. Blaylock, Mrs. Drayton McLane, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Triggs and Judge John Watson.

R. L. BATTE, JR. NAMED MARSHAL AT THORNDALE

FORMER CAMERON BOY WINS OFFICE IN BALLOTING THERE

R. L. Batte, Jr., former resident here, has been elected City Marshal of Thorndale and will take the oath of office as soon as the new officers are ready to qualify.

Mr. Batte has many friends in Cameron who will be interested to note his election to this important place in the newly created government at Thorndale. Mr. Batte was at one time deputy marshal in Cameron and was a candidate for sheriff in the primary election of last year, withdrawing from the race sometime before the date of the election for business reasons, as stated in a letter to the people.

At present Mr. Batte is manager of the Batte industries there, including cotton gins and an oil mill.

F. E. Stiles, manager of the election, submits the following returns from the city election held at Thorndale: W. B. Elliott, Mayor, 112 votes; R. L. Batte, Jr., marshal, 105 votes; O. F. Weise, 114 votes; C. Seller, 112 votes; V. F. Norris 105 votes; Max Westerman 109 votes and L. G. Butts 78 votes, aldermen.

The election for school bonds held at the Gay Hill community between Rockdale and Thorndale carried by a vote of 34 to 4, according to E. E. Eiland, who brought the returns in to the office of the county judge.

NEW PLEASURE PARK IS BUILT FOR CAMERON

ELWOOD CAMMER BUYS NICE ACREAGE AND WILL IMPROVE SITE FOR PARK

Elwood Cammer who established the Wayside Inn tourist park and dance pavilion at the river bridge has purchased four acres of land west of the city on the Buckholts road near the site of the old Germania Hall and will build a dance pavilion there and improve the place for a pleasure park.

Mr. Cammer has not yet named the park and is asking for suggestions for a name. He is building this place at the solicitation of many friends and former patrons of Wayside.

Work has been started on the hall. A sandwich shop will be conducted also. Nabours and Harris have the contract for the building and the material is furnished by the Jeter Lumber Company.

The new park and pavilion will be opened on July 5th and Steve Gardner will play the German for the big opening night. Mr. Cammer in times past has given free barbecues on the 4th but has not yet decided what he will do this year. The new dance hall is 46 by 76 feet and the park is equipped with city water and city lights.

According to Mr. Cammer this will be a country club for all people. There will be shade and a place for an outing for the people. There has been some talk of a racing track close by and these plans are being worked out.

FOOD

Miss Bartholomew Continues Talk On How To Pickle

Pickling

Since pickles are soaked in brine to make them firm and improve their flavor, care should be taken to observe accurate measurements in order to prevent shriveling or softening. Pickles should not be left in brine more than 24 hours. 1 to 1-2 cups salt to 1 gallon water may be used.

The pickle color may be improved or retained to a great extent by pouring cold vinegar over them and then gradually heating to the boiling point. Also grape leaves may be added to the jar for color and flavor. It is advisable not to add alum to secure crispness since it is an astringent and has a bad effect on the digestive system.

Dill Pickles

Cover the bottom of a four gallon jar or keg with grape leaves then add a layer of dill and 1-2 ounce mixed spice. Fill with cucumbers. Add another 1-2 ounce of spice and an outer layer of dill and cover with grape leaves. Pour over pickles a brine made of one pound salt, 3-4 quart vinegar, 10 quarts cold water (preferably soft). Cover in such a manner as to keep cucumbers under brine. The scum that forms should be kept skimmed off as it usually contains bacteria. Active fermentation will have been completed in ten days to two weeks and in order to protect against spoilage, cover with a layer of paraffin or transfer to jars. Then cover with fresh brine made as directed above. After bringing to a boil and cooling a small amount of dill and spice may be added, then pour over pickles and seal.

Dixie Relish (Powell)

1 quart chopped cabbage
1 pint chopped onions
1 pint chopped sweet red peppers
1 pint chopped sweet green peppers
4 tablespoons salt
4 tablespoons mustard seed
2 tablespoons celery seed
3-4 cup sugar
1 quart vinegar
Soak pepper in brine (1 cup salt to 1 gallon water) for 24 hours. Freshen in clear water for 1 to 2 hours. Drain. Remove seeds and course white material. Chop separately and measure the chopped cabbage and peppers and onions before mixing.

Add spices, sugar and vinegar. Let stand over night in a crock or enameled vessel. Pack into sterilized jars. When ready to pack drain off vinegar in order that the jar may be well packed. Press the relish carefully in the jars. Pour over it the vinegar that was drained off. Use a wooden paddle to remove every bubble. Carnish each jar with two quarter inch strips of red pepper in a vertical position on opposite sides of the jar. Be sure that the seam of the jar is on the back. Cap, clamp and process for fifteen minutes at boiling temperature.

Green Tomato Pickle (Powell)

1 gallon green tomatoes
1-2 dozen large onions
3 cups brown sugar
1-2 lemon
3 cups red pepper
3 cups vinegar
1 tablespoon whole black pepper
1 tablespoon whole cloves
1 tablespoon all spice
1 tablespoon celery seed (crushed)
1 tablespoon mustard seed
1 tablespoon ground mustard

Slice the tomatoes and onions thin, sprinkle over them 1-2 cup salt and let stand over night in a crock or enameled vessel. Tie the pepper, cloves all spice and celery seed in a cheese cloth bag. Slice the lemon and chop the pepper pods very fine. Drain the onion and the tomatoes well. And the seasoning except one pepper pod to the vinegar then add tomatoes and onions, cook for one-half hour, stirring gently at intervals to prevent burning. Remove spice bag to prevent darkening product. Pack by jar with strips of red pepper in v-garnishing the opposite sides of the jar. Process for 15 minutes. Pint jar is a standard container.

Chow Chow

1 gallon chopped cabbage
1-2 gallon chopped green tomatoes
1 dozen large onions (chopped)
1 dozen sweet bell peppers (chopped) green.
1-2 dozen sweet bell peppers (chopped) red
2 pounds sugar
1-2 cup ground mustard
6 tablespoons white mustard seed
1 tablespoon ground ginger
3 tablespoons celery seed
1 ounce cloves mashed and tied in a bag

Sprinkle lightly with salt and chopped ingredients, putting each in separate bowl. Let stand for four hours. Press the juice from tomatoes. Place the chopped peppers and cabbage in separate muslin bags and squeeze the juice from them. Mix all ingredients, being careful to rub mustard and ginger to a smooth paste with a little vinegar before adding.

Pour slowly over these the vinegar and boil mixture slowly for 1-2 hour. Pour into large jar. Cover tightly. Remove spice bags after 3 weeks. After 6 weeks Chow Chow may be packed into jars. Use the same vinegar in which pickles were cooked when packing Chow Chow. Process packed jars for 25 minutes.

Mrs. B. F. Bonds Is Hostess At Bridge

Mrs. B. F. Bonds was hostess on two occasions last week when she entertained members of the Wednesday Bridge Club and again when she invited five tables of bridge players for games Thursday afternoon. Pink radiance roses adorned the reception rooms for both parties, and the collation for both consisted of a salad course served on green hand painted trays centered with the radiance roses in vases.

Out of town guests Wednesday were Mrs. Ernest Beard of Hillsboro and Mrs. Hamilton Bonnet of Evansville, Illinois.

Miss Aetna Smith made high score Thursday afternoon and Mrs. W. R. Hoover low, and both were appropriately awarded gift prizes. Out of town guests were Miss Laverne Bowmer of Dallas and Mrs. Al G. Badger of San Angelo.

Miss Maude McGehee Will Marry Newton Smith Of Houston

Announcement of the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Maude McGehee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. McGehee, and Mr. Newton Smith of Houston was made in Waco last Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. Guy Robbins, 760 North Eleventh Street.

The following account of the affair appeared in the Waco papers: "Ribbons fell from a decorated umbrella and held tiny brides as terminals. This was the chandelier decoration, so that guests entering the room were apprized of a bridal theme and were in readiness for the announcement. Daisies and silver iridescent blossoms made the decorative scheme a success.

High score at bridge was a boudoir pillow, and the low, hand embroidered vanity case. The honored guest, who has the nickname of "Polly" among her friends, was presented linen for her trousseau chest. A salad course was served the guests."

The wedding is to be an event of June 18 at the First Baptist church here with Rev. E. S. Hutcherson the celebrant. The bride-to-be has taught in Waco for a number of years, a member of the faculty of Columbus Avenue School. Following the close of the schools in Waco last week, she returned home Saturday.

The groom is an employee of the Postoffice department at Houston where they will make their home. The romance was begun while the two were students of the Teachers College at San Marcos.

Now more than a MILLION FRIGIDAIRES have been built

With every department of the Frigidaire factories running at maximum capacity, with orders greater than at any time in the history of the business, on Thursday, May 16th, the Millionth Frigidaire was built

In both the Household and Commercial fields Frigidaire leads in sales to customers

THERE are definite reasons why more Frigidaires are in use than all other makes of electric refrigerators combined; why it is the choice of home owners, of builders, of apartment owners, of commercial refrigeration users throughout the world.

Beauty, power and convenience

Frigidaire has surplus power that meets every emergency in the hottest weather, and yet operates economically always.

Frigidaire cabinets are beautiful—they are finished in gleaming porcelain enamel, or white Duco—clean and easy to keep clean. The mechanical part is completely enclosed and so quiet that you don't hear it start, stop, or run. Food shelves are elevated so that stooping is unnecessary.

The famous "Cold Control"

And in addition to the standard temperature regulator which automatically maintains an ideal temperature in the food compartment, Frigidaire is equipped with the famous "Cold Control" that speeds the freezing of ice cubes and makes possible dozens of new and delicious desserts and salads.

Low Prices

Because Frigidaire has achieved the million mark—because it is the overwhelming choice of the majority—the economies of quantity production have made prices so low that every model represents a tremendous saving to the buyer.

YARBROUGH IN SERMON AT COMMENCEMENT

FORMER GRADUATE HERE IN
SPIRES STUDENTS WHO
FINISH HIGH SCHOOL

Clyde Yarbrough, a graduate of Yoe High School with the class of '26, preached the commencement sermon to members of the class of 1929 Sunday evening, June 2, at the First Methodist church. It was an auspicious occasion for the speaker because of his achievements in the past three years since his own graduation, for the class because they are graduates, and for the C. H. Yoe High school because it finishes such students.

Clad in light trousers and a dark coat, Mr. Yarbrough did not have the appearance of a minister, but with his first words and then as his message progressed the audience realized that he knew whereof he spoke and that in him are the makings of a powerful speaker. Because of his youth, it was fitting that in his introductory admonition to the members of the class, he should congratulate them on their youth, saying that youth is the morning and the springtime of life. Because of his own attainments, it was natural that he should congratulate them upon their graduation, accompanied as it is with its many hours of labor. And because of his own most promising future, it was appropriate that he should remind the class of the possibilities of their future lives, declaring that "Commencement" is a very proper word to use for graduation exercises.

Most people placed in a position such as that Mr. Yarbrough graced, might have felt ill at ease, but not so with him. Announcing as his subject, "The Power of Thought," and as his text the words, "For as a man thinketh, so is he," from the twenty-third chapter of Proverbs, he proceeded with his message in a manner that would do credit to a man of many years experience in addressing graduating classes. "The most powerful thing in the world today is thought in its intangible, invisible form." And to the graduates he said, "Your achievements in the world of tomorrow will depend upon your thinking."

The second phase of his treatment of the subject had to do with the fact that man becomes as he thinks. Any man is just as big as he thinks, he cannot think small and grow big, think bad and grow kind, think impure thoughts and grow clean. To substantiate his statements he quoted from many authors such pithy saying as this: "If you want to rise in the world, begin by raising your thoughts." He also cited examples of thinking men of history, saying that when Tennyson wrote Crossing the Bar he did more for the world than if he had built a man-of-war; that Robert Louis Stevenson with his many books has benefitted humanity more than any of his ancestors who improved lighthouses; that the artist Millet gave the world a treasure when

In concluding his sermon, he cautioned the graduates that they are now ready to meet life in its naked reality, that they must think seriously of life and of God.

There was a noticeable absence of humor in the address, and this fact added to the dignity of the occasion. It was not a light moment for the speaker, and the nearest approach to a witticism that he made was to mention operating a hamburger stand as a future occupation for some members of the class. He knows from experience that this commencement is a launching into life for the class and his aim, which he reached in splendid manner, was to try to help prepare them for it.

The processional and recessional were played by Miss Lucille Dickard of the high school faculty. Mr. Hyde of the Christian church was master of the program and made the announcements. E. S. Hutcherson, pastor of the Baptist church, gave the invocation and this was followed by a hymn, "Softly Now the Light of Day," members of the Junior class of the high school forming the choir. The responsive reading lead by Mr. Hyde was the Ninety-first Psalm, and this was closed with Gloria Patri. P. T. Ramsey of the Methodist church read a scripture taken from the Fifth chapter of Matthew, a portion of the Sermon on the Mount. A special musical number by the choir followed this, and then T. A. Fisher, superintendent of Cameron schools, introduced Mr. Yarbrough, giving a few biographical facts of interest to the audience.

After the sermon, Misses Inez Evans and Dora Emily Moore, members of the graduating class, sang a duet, "Hold Thou My Hand" by Briggs. The benediction was pronounced by Mr. Yarbrough, and the graduates filed out, the first event in their formal graduation exercises having become a thing of the past.

BLOATED FEELING

And Other Troubles Went
Away After This South
Carolinian Had Taken
Black-Draught.

Iva, S. C.—"I have used Black-Draught, at intervals, for about five years," says Mr. J. F. Gilliland, of this place. "I take it for indigestion. After eating, I would have a tight, bloated feeling, and pains in my chest and stomach. I would spit up my food, and some things I ate would not agree with me at all. I would be hungry, but afraid to eat on account of the indigestion. I would be constipated, too."

"Some one told me that I should try Black-Draught, which I did, with good results. I take just a small dose after meals, and I feel like a different person."

"I do not have any more trouble of that kind. I can now eat almost anything I want to, at any time, and it does not hurt me."

"Black-Draught is a splendid medicine. I can recommend it to others."

Thousands of people have found relief, in cases of common indigestion, by taking a pinch of Black-Draught after meals, and continuing this treatment for several days.

Take Theford's Black-Draught. It is purely vegetable and acts in a helpful way, without the bad effects of mineral drugs.

CHICAGO TRIBUNE ATTACKS CHRISTIAN CENTURY ARTICLE ON PROHIBITION MURDER OF MRS. DE KING AT AURORA

Under the caption, "Christian Century?", the Chicago Tribune printed the following editorial on May 22:

The Christian Century has published an article charging that The Tribune distorted, misrepresented, and suppressed facts in the news of the De King killing for the purpose of discrediting prohibition and prohibition enforcement methods.

The author of the criticism, Mr. Paul Hutchinson, produced his version of the affair. He neglected to quote authorities for most of his statements except to indicate that he accepted the account of State's Attorney Carberry of Kane county. Much of his information could have been obtained from no other source than the report of the grand jury, a document to which Mr. Carberry refused the legislative investigating committee access and which is not available for refutation. These are the facts as developed by Mr. Hutchinson for the Christian Century.

Two deputy sheriffs of Kane county and an investigator went to the home of Joseph De King in the environs of Aurora. They had a warrant which was subsequently proved fraudulent and the paid informer who swore to it has been indicted for perjury. Although Mr. Hutchinson claims that De King was a notorious character, the warrant did not name him, but named John Doe. (Carberry before the investigating committee admitted that this was bad practice.) Furthermore although the supposed evidence had been obtained nine days previously, the officers waited to make a night visit to serve the bogus warrant.

George Stafford refused the officers admittance, saying that De King, the owner of the house, was upstairs asleep. Gerald De King, the boy, was ordered to get his father and tell him he was wanted. (One of the deputies during the investigation said that they told the boy nothing). De King, aroused from sleep, came down dressed in underclothes. He was in an "ugly mood"—a weasel word for "angry."

Meanwhile one of the snoopers had searched the cellar and discovered a jug of wine. (Testimony at the investigation was that the wine was not found till later.) De King from the stairs ordered the illegal raiders out of his home and Hutchinson said that De King fired to show he was in earnest, cutting one of the dupes short as he tried to read the warrant. (One of the deputies has testified that De King ordered them out, not from the stairs, but while they were all in the kitchen, and that he did not shoot in the air until the officers had left the house. Then, outside, De King fired into the air. There has been no testimony that any one tried to read the warrant, and the fact is not certain that the deputies even had the illegal warrant with them.)

Then the three officers left the De King home to get reinforcements. Hanson returned first with Joseph's brother, Peter De King. Before the rest of the dry mob came back they sat down with Joseph, Mrs. De King, who had returned, and Gerald. Hanson drank some of the wine.

The party was thoroughly congenial and De King had been persuaded to submit to orderly arrest until the two other deputies returned with three comrades. De King saw them at the door and threatened them if they should come in. Whereat Deputy Sheriff Smith cracked De King over the head with the butt end of a gun. The gun was splintered by the blow and De King fell. The room was in confusion. Some of the officers "beat it." Mrs. De King, a woman five feet one inch tall, started towards her husband as he was stretched on the floor. Hutchinson said that she reached for De King's gun. Smith blazed away at her and after staggering a few feet Mrs. De King dropped. (According to testimony of the physician who examined the body, Mrs. De King was standing when she was shot. She could not have been stooping for the gun.) As a coup de grace a deputy outside tossed a gas bomb in the window. Hutchinson was forced to admit Mrs. De King was a woman of good character.

Here we are disposed to rest our case. The Christian Century obscured the real issue by attempting to show that out of the confusion its correspondent has discovered the true set of facts, which in their deviation from the facts as stated in The Tribune discredit our motives and methods.

For purposes of the record the Christian Century says that it regrets the murder of Mrs. De King, a statement not borne out by the rest of the article. The article was prepared in condonation of a murder, no doubt with the direct result of inspiring more murders by offering the sanction of the church to prohibition killers. The business of attacking the newspapers (all of the Chicago newspapers were criticized but pardoned somewhat as being influenced by The Tribune) was a trick to escape the onus of praising directly the wanton slaying of a mother in the fanatical enforcement of a moral law.

Mrs. De King was murdered because a perjurer hired by the prohibition authorities lied to get a $5 fee. She was murdered because her husband resented a gang of bullies overrunning their home without even showing the fraudulent warrant, if they had one, proceeding in outrageous violation of the guaranty of the security of the home. She was murdered because, with the protection of the state's attorney and a judge behind them, the undisciplined mob of raiders behaved like Turkish plunderers in their perverted mania to get a jug of wine, the possession of which was not illegal and which one of their number had partially consumed.

Had the prosecutor obtained a warrant based upon trustworthy evidence, there would have been a proper procedure in arresting Joseph De King. One man, unarmed, could have gone to the De King home in the daytime. He could have read the warrant to De King and said, "De King you're wanted." If De King had resisted, the deputy should have consulted the state's attorney and the arrest could have been made in an orderly fashion without clubbing the victim and killing his wife. Hutchinson, himself, states that De King was ready to be taken by one man, but that he was infuriated by the presence of a gang of desperadoes armed with bullet proof vests, sawed-off shotguns, and gas bombs.

The name Christian, above all things, implies tolerance and forgiveness; it implies abhorrence of brutality and abiding love for humanity. The Christian Century represents itself as being the spokesman for this faith. But the Christian Century has established a standard of hate; it has introduced a crusade of murder, first for the enforcement of a law which most men resent, and now for the execution of people suspected of violating a law or even for the murder of any people whom confessed perjurers accuse of violating the law.

Ruthless and sanguinary persons masquerading as Christians are temporarily directing the taking of victims they have marked for execution and controlling a large part of the politicians of the country. But incidents such as the article in the Christian Century sets forth are exposing their program, which is wrecking not only the social and political life of the country, but is obstructing the work of the competent and intelligent ministry among reasonable and fundamentally sound Christians. Fortunately, their domination will inevitably be ended by a reaction to and a full knowledge of their savagery and frenzy.

New Size Bills To Be Ready July 10, Treasury Says

Washington, June 3.—The American public will have to begin tapering off July 10 on the long established habit of breaking old fashioned bills and start acquiring the habit of spending the new variety, which are different in size, but represent the same amount of purchasing power. The new bills, six and five-sixteenths inches wide with black and white faces and green backs, will go into circulation on that date, as far as the popular $1 and $20 denominations are concerned. Those for higher amounts will be introduced later.

The larger bills with which most folks are familiar will continue to be used until worn out, and for a time all orders for fresh paper currency will be filled by the treasury with both varieties. Recognizing that this may cause inconvenience, treasury officials are hopeful that the public will be patient until the supply of old-type bills is exhausted and uniformity of currency again established.

Low Priced MILEAGE

The New Firestone OLDFIELD

COURIER

THE new Firestone Oldfield is truly an outstanding tire. Rugged, powerful and of good appearance, it provides extremely low priced mileage.

A carefully designed tread with non-skid edges assures safety on slippery streets. A remarkable tire at an amazingly low price... the equal of other "first lines" by actual test! The Courier—another real value—is recognized as the most economical tire of the low price class. Consistent long mileage is the result of scientific design and high-grade raw materials. Note the low prices below—other sizes correspondingly low.

The Cow Bird Shirks Its Duty

It is said that the cow bird never builds its own nest. When it gets ready to lay its eggs, it hunts up some nest that another bird has built and lays its eggs there along with the eggs of the nest owner. It never concerns itself about whether the small birds will be taken care of. In due course of time the cow birds eggs hatch and the nest owner is required to feed them and care for them along with her own.

Some men are like the cow bird. They live in a community and enjoy its opportunities, but never contribute anything to community betterment. They take advantage of every opportunity that those who have lived and served before them have made possible, but as far as they are concerned they shirk every community responsibility. They refuse to give to any public or civic enterprise.

People of this sort are too selfish to be of any value to a community, and no community was ever built or made better by this class of people.

The people who make a town, are the people who get back of community projects and do what they can to promote them. These are the community builders and everything Cameron has worthwhile is here because there was enough of this type of people to bring this to pass.

THE ESSEX CAR

Is only one of the many desirable things we have in stock. It is the best of its kind, of course in our opinion. Equally as good in its way is the spirit of courtesy we put behind it, the maintenance system we provide for all its owners, the personal interest we take in each and every one of them, the conscientious effort we make to do things right and earn our customers friendship.

The Essex car is a great machine and deserves that kind of backing. But the credit for that goes to the Essex factory. We could not build it here if we wanted to but we can build a business atmosphere to match it in quality, and we work days and nights to accomplish that purpose.

The Essex owner is the judge of our success. Ask him about the spirit of our business.

THE CAMERON HERALD

ROCKDALE LEGION TO CELEBRATE JULY 4TH

INCREASED INTEREST BEING MANIFESTED IN MILK ROUTE TO CAMERON

Henry Abernathy, driver of the truck handling the local milk route for the Cameron cheese factory, reports his business picking up every day up to Monday when the flood situation kept him from making the complete round. His last delivery at the factory weighed 900 pounds, and he expects it to reach 1200 pounds daily as soon as the roads become passable again.

"I have 20 regular customers now, with ten more pledged to begin shipping this week," Abernathy stated Wednesday. "I was unable to get to Lexington either Monday, Tuesday or today, but hope to make it tomorrow. Milk now on hand is being kept in the local ice factory until I am able to get to Cameron with it."

Abernathy's route is from Cameron to Lexington. He goes out south by way of Hamilton Chapel and Pleasant Hill, thence to Lexington, and back on highway No. 44 via Tanglewood and Hicks. Next week he will start his young son on a branch route out in the Salty and Gay Hill communities. He reports interest increasing and expects soon to have all the milk he can haul. "Patrons seem to be very well satisfied with the 46c price," he said, "and some of them say it is a better proposition than using a separator and selling the cream. All who want it get their whey back the next day without any cost to them."—The Rockdale Reporter.

Odd Fellows At San Gabriel To Observe Holiday, July 4th

At a meeting of the members of I. O. O. F. lodge of San Gabriel held last Monday night it was unanimously decided to hold their second annual Fourth of July picnic this year and plans are already going forward toward the preliminary arrangements. The first celebration held at Penn Camp Grounds on the Fourth of July last year was a huge success and was attended by a record crowd, many coming from distant counties. It is the intention of the arrangement committee to prepare for another big crowd of people and have even more entertainment features as well as better conveniences for the comfort of those coming to spend the entire day.

The people of Thorndale joined the San Gabriel people last year in their patriotic celebration and the Champion is sure that the same spirit will prevail this year on the part of the local people co-operating to the end of making the celebration a success.—Thorndale Champion.

Years of service in MODEL T FORDS

THE Model T was so strongly and sturdily built that it is still rendering reliable, economical service to motorists in every section of the country. Millions of these cars can be put in shape for two, three and five more years of use at very small cost.

So that you may have this work done economically and satisfactorily, the Ford Motor Company is still devoting a considerable section of its plants to the manufacture of Model T parts. It will continue to do so as long as they are needed by Model T owners. The following list gives the approximate labor charges for reconditioning the Model T Ford:—

Engine
Tune motor (including replacement of commutator case, brush and vibrator points if necessary)	$1.00
Grind valves and clean carbon	$3.75 to 4.00
Overhaul carburetor	1.50
Reline detachable car transmission bands	1.50
Install new pistons or connecting rods	6.00
Tighten all main bearings	6.00
Overhaul motor and transmission	$20.00 to 25.00
Rear System
Replace rear axle assembly	2.50
Install universal joint	3.00
Reline brake shoes	1.50
Replace rear axle shaft, drive shaft pinion, or drive gear	5.00
Overhaul complete rear axle assembly	$5.75 to 7.00
Rebush spring and perches	1.75
Oil and graphite springs	3.00
Front System
Overhaul front axle	$4.00 to 5.00
Rebush spindle bodies and arms (both sides)	2.50
Replace or straighten spindle connecting rod	.75
Tighten radius rod or steering ball cap	.60
Tighten all sockets and joints of front end	1.50
Replace front spring tie bolt or new leaf	2.50
Straighten front axle	3.00
Chassis
Replace rear fender	1.75
Overhaul steering gear	3.50
Repair muffler	1.00
Overhaul radiator	7.50
Repaint Coupe	25.00
Repaint Sedan	25.00
Repaint Touring Car	20.00
Reupholster Runabout	8.00
Reupholster Touring Car	15.00
Replace top deck (Coupe or Sedan)	4.00
Overhaul starting motor	3.00
Overhaul generator	2.60

These prices are approximate and are for labor only, because the need and number of new parts depend on the condition of each car. The charge for these parts is low, however, because of the established Ford policy of manufacturing and selling at a small margin of profit.

HE PLAYS THE GAME

Is golf going to take the place of baseball as our foremost national sport?

You may scoff at the suggestion. But sporting goods manufacturers estimate that at least 2,000,000 Americans are golfers.

And that is only a beginning. Any one with his eyes open realizes that a golf craze is sweeping the country like a prairie fire. In popularity, golf is growing far faster than baseball grew in its early days.

For everyone that plays golf there are five who would be playing if they could.

In the main, golf is still a rich man's game. The price of getting into a good golf club is prohibitive for the average man—and usually intentionally so, to keep the membership "exclusive."

The scarcity of golf courses for the person of moderate means drives home the principle that America has made practically no provisions for recreational sports for the people.

If golf ever does dethrone baseball, it will be a good thing for the national health.

The baseball fan rarely plays the game himself. He sits and watches professionals play. For this reason, baseball in America is no longer a sport. It is a form of theatricals.

You do not, however, find golf enthusiasts sitting back and watching other players—except an occasional loafer. He gets out and plays the game himself.

THE URGE TO "GET AWAY"

The battle of the vacation resorts is on with enough spoils for distribution to assure victory to all of the combatants. This annual battle is waged to decide whether the summer vacationists will go to the mountains to the seashore, automobile touring, to the summer cottage, camping, transcontinental railroad sightseeing or touring abroad. Next fall it will be learned as heretofore that the vacationists have gone to all of these places.

There are some people who enjoy going to the same resort, in the same way and at the same time every year but the greater portion of the American populace has an insatiable appetite for the novel and strange in vacation resorts as well as in everything else. So nine out of ten of us will go to the seashore one year, to the mountains another year and touring on still another year.

Another phase of the summer vacation is that strange, unexplainable urge which makes everybody at vacation time to wish to get away from the scene of his labors. People who live at the seashore 50 weeks in the year go to the mountains or abroad at vacation time. The mountain dwellers flock down to the seashore resorts on the vacation excursions and the European and Asiatic probably come to America, while Mr. and Mrs. United States are vacationing abroad. A definition for the word "vacation" might well be "a sojourn away from home," although Webster's gives it as an intermission from stated employment.

The only available explanation for the vacation wanderlust is the propensity of the American to become bored with his surroundings and to crave new hunting grounds. Perhaps it is a twentieth century outcropping of the pioneer instinct of the frontier-pushing forefathers.

TIME AND CHANCE

There is a destiny which shapes our ends and our lives, but what a frail and inconspicuous destiny it is. One little incident may change the whole tenor of a life, has made a success out of a failure, has given fame and even immortality.

Joseph Conrad, greatest writer of sea stories, became a "sea-rover" because his first books as a Polish boy were of the sea and exploration. What might he have been if his library as a boy had been other than it was?

Benjamin Franklin followed vague inclination to ship from Boston to Philadelphia and became Pennsylvania's leading citizen of his time, the spokesman for the American colonies and an immortal figure in American history. What might he have been had he continued in the employ of his brother's print shop?

Who can account for the chance dig of the spade which uncovered the tomb of Tutankhamen, the fortunate discovery of the first oil well at Titusville, Pa., and the gold nugget which precipitated the rush of the forty-miners to California?

Many of us can place our fingers on one happening, perhaps accidental, which was the deciding factor in the determination of our life's work. A chance perusal of the classified advertising page of a newspaper has been this deciding factor for thousands. Such a thing as a news item has been known to serve as the one break in the wall of the rut.

When Elbert Hubbard wrote that "Man should follow the dictates of his passions" he did not mean that he should give full play to his desires, but that the subconscious inclinations of man are sooner to be obeyed than obstacle-finding, inspiration-dampening, deliberation.

The summer school student deserves all the rewards of worthy ambition.

Another good way to cure the sleeping disease is to monkey with the stock market.

Americanism: The pet faiths and prejudices of the man who happens to be defining it.

without protest to what is sometimes called "God's will." But my answer is that blind resignation is neither faith nor virtue. It is slavery pure and simple. Forms of faith change—faith never. Obviously St. Paul was not unfamiliar with the changing forms of faith. For surely he was bound to know that his forms, drawn from military life, were different from Christ's forms, drawn from nature and pastoral life.

"I think, then, St. Paul is right, faith does abide; but we must be sure not to mistake forms for faith itself. Neither are we to confuse difficulties of faith with absence of faith. Because, then, you feel that every statement of faith ever framed fails to express your faith; and even because you yourself are unable to say just what you do believe, do not let any pious churchman convince you that you are without faith. I think it was Lord Tennyson who defined faith as "the soul's knowledge of God, just as love is our knowledge of one another." So long, then, as there are men to know God faith will abide.

"St. Paul's next abiding reality is HOPE. Now, faith has been defined as the UPWARD LOOK of the soul. If that is true, and I think that it is, then hope may be defined as the FORWARD LOOK of the soul. Certainly hope is the soul's optimism. It may, however, be objected just at this point, and not without a great deal of truth, that hope will not abide, that the race will in time outgrow it, because its only purpose is to create a "fools paradise" when the actual facts point in another direction. But that, my friends, is to confuse hope with foolhardiness. Foolhardiness is orthodoxy's substitute for hope, and substitutes are in time outgrown; but hope is to abide.

"Real hope, you will understand, is not so shallow as the hope defined by Aristotle, "A Waking Dream." The abiding hope, of which we are speaking, is founded not on dreams waking or sleeping, but on experience, and experience has taught us times without number that life is full of open doors leading into unexpected places of rest and quiet and even triumph. And it is because of this that hope is to abide. However, let us never forget that hope, life faith, is forever changing its forms and expressions.

"I can easily remember, and so can you, when the strongest of men hoped for a heaven where all they would have to do would be to play a harp and sing the song of Moses and the lamb throughout eternity. I do not know where you could find a man today who would care to go to such a place. Today the strongest and best of men hope for much bigger and better things. They like to hope that heaven is where God's will is completely done—where the right will always triumph over the wrong. They like too, to hope for an opportunity for unlimited advancement and progress. Evolution, so the biologists tell us, can proceed with its work after death as well as before death. That, I say, is our hope today. Now, it is not at all unlikely that our children will place their hopes upon still bigger and better things. But running in and through it all is that abiding, unchanging hope which man will never outgrow.

"The last abiding reality of which St. Paul speaks is LOVE. And love, he declared, is the greatest of the three. It is well for us to remember just here, as I have pointed out many times before, that the word here used is not one denoting affection. Rather it is a word suggesting the Christian law of fellowship and kindness and justice. One commentator clearly expresses himself on this noble word: "No flickering or wayward emotion, but the energy of a steadfast will bent on creating fellowship."

"It is quite significant that Jesus used the word in a most startling sentence: "Love your enemies." Now, affection cannot be meant by that word, for if so Jesus did not himself live up to it. Can you think of Him facing the scribes and pharisees and believe that Jesus held an affection for them? And we can also know from personal experiences that it is impossible for any one to feel affectionate towards those who have done him wrong. We must, then, rid the mind of sentimentality and even emotionalism, and leave love free to express character's cardinal ethic. See love as the opposite of selfishness. See it as a cool and deliberate will to create fellowship and right relations between men and nations. Then you will begin to understand why St. Paul calls it the greatest of all powers.

"By making love the most important of all things, St. Paul has here said a very startling thing: "Doubt your God if you must, despair of the future if you must, but, in peril of your soul, see that no shadow fall between you and your fellowmen." Here, at least, the light is clear. The man who is right with his fellowmen is, as Christ himself said, "not far from the kingdom of God."

Florence Atkinson Host To Friends At Lawn Party Here

Miss Florence Atkinson was hostess to her friends Tuesday evening when she entertained with a lawn party and tea at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Atkinson. The guests were divided into three groups, ex-students of Yoe High School, members of the 1929 class, and future graduates. Each of these groups wrote a prophecy concerning those present and these prophecies were read as a part of the program. Other entertainers were Miss Lucille Green and Charles Schaege who sang solos, Bobby Lyon in readings, and Joe Roland and his orchestra of "Little Rollers." Following the program dancing was enjoyed.

The lawn was transformed into a beauty spot by colored lights and baskets of flowers which added to the attractiveness of the natural flowers growing there and in full bloom. Refreshments of punch and cakes were served during the evening.

BAPTIST CHURCH

Next Sunday, June 9, has been designated as Reunion Day at the Baptist church and an attempt is being made to have every member of the church attend at least one service during the day. Special programs have been arranged for the morning and evening services and attendance at Sunday School and B. Y. P. U. is also being urged. The program for the morning service will be as follows:

Doxology.
Prayer.
Hymn.
Chorus, "I Heard the Voice of Jesus (Wilson), choir.
Violin solo, Miss Imogene Sapp.
Duet, Misses Inez Evans and Doris Emily Moore.
Offertory.

Mixed quartette, Mrs. Wilson Gunn, Miss Bess DuBois, Mr. Ray Burke, and Mr. John Hays.

Sermon, Rev. Hutcherson.
The order of service for the evening will be much the same with another anthem by the choir, a cornet solo by Nathan McGehee, a vocal solo by Miss Inez Evans, and another quartette.

Robbins and Kelly Are Made Colonels While Solons Cheer

Austin, Tex., June 4.—Two modest Texans who last week shattered the world's endurance flight record in their sturdy craft, the "Fort Worth," yesterday became Lieut. Colonels Reg. L. Robbins and Jim Kelly amid spirited applause from both houses of the legislature.

The airmen, abashed at the reception given them, received the honorary titles from Governor Moody.

"Missouri made Lindbergh a colonel and Texas is as great a state as Missouri," the governor said in conferring the honorary posts on the two aviators. "Robbins and Kelly have set a new high mark for courage and endurance that deserves the admiration of all people."

Robbins and Kelly thanked the legislature for its ovation.

"Jesus And Common Sense" Sunday Text For Rev. Kenney.

H. G. Kenney will preach at the New Hefley Theater on Sunday as usual. The subject for the Sunday morning sermon will be "Jesus and Common Sense."

The committee in charge of the services invites the public to attend. The theater has been made comfortable for the services and Mr. Kenney has been preaching to large crowds.

I WANT HELP!

I've got myself into a jam. I promised the Delco-Light home office that I'd run an ad in this space every other week. And now I don't know what to say. If I tell the truth about how good Delco-Light is, nobody will believe me. If I don't get more or less enthusiastic, nobody will come in and ask about Delco-Light. And that's the big idea back of these ads. Get people interested. Then sell them a Delco-Light. So if anybody has any good advertising ideas, please send them along. No pay, but lots of thanks. In the meanwhile—"stand by for further announcements."

THE ESSEX CAR

Is only one of the many desirable things we have in stock. It is the best of its kind, of course in our opinion. Equally as good in its way is the spirit of courtesy we put behind it, the maintenance system we provide for all its owners, the personal interest we take in each and every one of them, the conscientious effort we make to do things right and earn our customers friendship.

The Essex car is a great machine and deserves that kind of backing. But the credit for that goes to the Essex factory. We could not build it here if we wanted to but we can build a business atmosphere to match it in quality, and we work days and nights to accomplish that purpose.

The Essex owner is the judge of our success. Ask him about the spirit of our business.

COURT AMENDMENT VOTE ON JULY 16

SIX AIDES TO SUPREME COURT SOUGHT IN SENATE RESOLUTION

On July 16th the people of Texas will vote on a proposal to amend additional Judges for the Supreme Court. The big seige guns of the extracts form the Senate Joint Resolution are printed so that the people may be better informed when they cast their ballots:

WHEREAS, the 41st Legislature, of Texas, at its Regular Session, submitted to a vote of the people a Constitutional Amendment providing for a Supreme Court to be composed of Nine Members, instead of the present Supreme Court of Three members, assisted by six Commissioners, drawing substantially the pay of Supreme Court Judges, but whose work must be reviewed and approved by the Supreme Court, and,

WHEREAS, the adoption of said increase the cost of our Supreme the injustice resulting from the laws' delay under the present system; and,

WHEREAS, the said amendment would also provide that the Supreme Court shall be open for the transaction of business throughout the year, instead of for only nine months, as required by the present provision of the Constitution; and,

WHEREAS, the 41st Legislature has also submitted to a vote of the people another Constitutional Amendment, providing that the Governor of Texas shall receive a salary of Ten Thousand Dollars per year, and no more, and,

WHEREAS, the adoption of this Constitutional Amendment is necessary in order to provide a living wage for the Governor of Texas, and to make it practicable for a citizen, not possessed of great wealth, to serve as Chief Executive without ruinous sacrifice, and,

WHEREAS, both of said Constitutional Amendments are to be voted upon at a Special Election to be held in every voting precinct in Texas on Tuesday, the 16th day of July, 1929, and,

WHEREAS, regardless of the merits of the proposals involved in said Constitutional Amendments, respectively, it is highly desirable and important that as nearly as possible, every qualified voter shall go to the polls on said date, Tuesday, July 16th, 1929, and vote upon both Amendments, now therefore, be it, RESOLVED, BY THE SENATE OF TEXAS, THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES CONCURRING THEREIN:

SPORTS

Cameron has every reason to be proud of its graduates. Two of the largest educational institutions in the state have honored Cameron boys with athletic honors. The Texas Frank Mondrik its captain while A. & M. chose Ed Thompson as their leader. Both of these men have been prominent in intercollegiate athletic circles and their choice is a good one.

Ed Thompson is the star half miler for the Aggies and it was due to his ability upon the cinder track that the Aggies are now Southwest Conference track champions. It will be remembered that Ed while a Yoemen was an outstanding performer and much was predicted for him. It is gratifying to know that he has delivered the goods.

Another Cameron product of whom much will be expected is Don Slocomb of the Aggie squad of cinder artists. He is a hurdler of no mean ability. It was our own Frank Mondrik of the Longhorns who pushed him to make him win in the recent conference meet. He is at home on either the high or low barriers.

The National League is furnishing the hot stove league something to talk about. The Pittsburgh Pirates are making things hot for the Chicago Cubs and have attained league leadership for a while. It will be interesting to watch the records of the Waner boys, to see if they can come through as they have in the past. The Cubs have a fine team. Their pitching strength is their mainstay and much of the burden of winning will be placed upon the shoulder of Uhle, who is in a class by himself in the senior league.

The Brooklyn Robins are conceded one place in the race and that place is the cellar. Wilbur Robinson has probably the hardest luck of any big league manager. In addition to being the manager, he is owner of a large share of the stock of the club and this makes the breaks seem all the worse to him. Even Dazzy Vance is unable to stem the tide.

Miller Huggins now knows what it is to be out of first position in the league standing. There is no doubt of his being a clever manager but the best of managers cannot produce a winner without the proper material. The big seige guns of the Yanks are silenced more than ever this year. The pitching is much weaker but in spite of this, they have the uncanny knack of winning games when they are needed and this may put the Yanks at the top.

Ray Keech won the Annual Memorial Day auto classic at Indianapolis last Thursday in as stirring a finish as was ever seen on this historic track. The race was marred by two serious accidents in which one was killed and another was injured. In the old days of racing when two driver cars were used, it was a common occurrence for both drivers to be killed should a bad spill occur, but the single seater light car has eliminated this to a large extent. In addition to more speed, the small car is safer and much easier to handle. However, the two seater is coming back. Another innovation in the racing car field is the front wheel drive which makes for better control and still safer driving. One of these cars was entered in the race last Thursday.

The time of the race this year was less than last year but Keech was by no means slow on the track. His breath taking turns were the sensation of the meet and he furnished the spectators some real thrills. His ability to make these turns at break neck speed enabled him to win by two laps. It will be remembered that it was Ray Keech who established a world's record for straight away driving last year at Daytona Beach in the ill fated White Triplex racer. His record then was 207 miles per hour and stood until Major Seagrave beat it recently with a speed of 231 miles per hour. Lee Bible lost his life in the attempted run to break this record in the giant Triplex.

Bobby Jones lost his bag of favorite golf club last week but soon found them which brings to mind the habit that Bobby has of winning golf titles. It seems that whenever he enters a match, it is a foregone conclusion that he will come away with the prize. The Atlanta Barrister is not an easy player. He studies his game intently, too intently some say, and cannot relax. He plays as if everything is contingent upon his winning. In contrast to this is the easy going style and play of Walter Hagen who far outclasses any other professional golfer.

LaGrange Bank Opens For Business Again

The First National Bank of La Grange which voluntarily closed its doors three weeks ago, opened its doors Monday morning after receiving a telegram from Washington authorizing the examiner to turn the affairs of the bank over to the board of directors and officials. Stacks of money were on hand to greet the line of people who came, not to draw their money, but to resume business. Depositors did not lose a cent, and the only change is that the bank is reorganized with a new cashier and assistant cashier.—Giddings News.

A SERIOUS CHANGE

Kentucky Lady Was Seriously
Ill for Months But Was Finally Relieved By
Cardui.

Lawrenceburg, Ky.—"At a time in my life, when my health was undergoing a serious change," says Mrs. J. C. Ray, who lives near here, "I found Cardui to be of the greatest benefit to me. I was seriously ill for about two months, and for several months I was not well. My nerves were all unstrung. I could not bear the least noise around me. I could not sleep.

"My head ached until it seemed as if it would burst. My feet and limbs swelled dreadfully. I felt tired all the time. When I was up, I dragged around the house, but most of the time I spent on the bed. I got Cardui and began taking it regularly. Very soon I could see that it was helping me. I began to sleep better and eat more. The awful nervousness got better.

"When I had finished the first bottle, I was much better than I had been for many weeks. I was so encouraged that I kept right on. Before very long I was doing all my housework and was feeling quite well."

Thousands of other women have been helped by Cardui after long suffering from weakness and nervousness. NC-198

... when the airplane was a curiosity and automobiles were "horseless carriages"

... before the great war was thought of

... and the "Lone Eagle" was a kid!

LONE STAR GAS COMPANY BEGAN THESE 20 YEARS OF SERVICE

This June, Lone Star Gas Company rounds out its first 20 years of service. Twenty years! And what eventful years! The fastest moving 20 years in the world's history! The 20 years during which the Southwest has had its greatest growth!

To meet the growing natural gas demands of an ever increasing number of Texas and Oklahoma communities has been Lone Star's part in this swift development . . . and we have tried to play it well! These 20 years have brought a greatly increased use of natural gas, with many new gas uses unknown 20 years ago. Gas refrigeration, for instance!

Natural gas . . . supplied through Lone Star pipe lines to nearly 250 communities and more than a million people . . . is one of the Southwest's greatest assets. Much of the Southwest's growth in the next 20 years will come from the industrial utilization of this rich fuel resource, and the Lone Star organization will continue to play a big part in this development.

As we reach the 20th milestone, we pause an instant for a brief backward glance at the trials and triumphs of the past . . . then we face . . . FORWARD!

LINDBERGH'S SPEND HONEYMOON CRUISING ON LONG ISLAND SOUND ON NEW MOTOR BOAT, MOUETTE

New London, Conn., June 3.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and his bride, who was Miss Anne Morrow, went to sea for their honeymoon. In a new 38-foot motor boat, the Mouette, they have been cruising in Long Island Sound since their marriage at Englewood, N. J., a week ago, probably tying up in some quiet harbor along the Long Island shore each night.

Just at present it is believed the Mouette is off the tip of Long Island heading for Boston in a leisurely way.

On Saturday afternoon a new boat with a tall, light-haired young man at the wheel, put in at Block Island for gas and oil, and Capt. Louis Rounds of the Elizabeth Ann gave him a helping hand to tie up. In the pilot house there was an exchange of seafaring and other talk, and the yachtsman admitted to Capt. Rounds that he was the colonel.

The Mouette was supplied with necessities and Colonel Lindbergh took on a barrel of water as well, and after a short stay left for a cross-sound trip which would have brought the craft to Montauk Point.

Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh eluded everybody a week ago this afternoon when they took their departure from the home of Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow at Englewood. Since then the air and land have been searched for the honeymooners. Not a trace of them apparently could be found, although Dame Rumor had them at various places in the country.

The yachtsman told Capt. Rounds and his mate, Raymond Abell, that he had crossed from Port Jefferson, L. I., which is about opposite Bridgeport Conn., but the chart on the pilot house table indicated that the Mouette had crossed from a point close to the tip of Long Island, where there are many inlets and small harbors in which a craft could anchor and, at this season, be alone for days at a time. A cruise along the Long Island side of the sound is regarded by yachtsmen as almost ideal in its marine pleasures and last week had all the lure of a midsummer cruise.

NEW CURRENCY EXHIBIT

The exact size of the New United States Paper Currency which is to be placed in circulation about July 1929, is shown by the diagram below, and will bear the following portraits:

$1.00	Washington	$10.00	Hamilton	$100.00	Franklin
$2.00	Jefferson	$20.00	Jackson	$500.00	McKinley
$5.00	Lincoln	$50.00	Grant	$1,000.00	Cleveland
	$5,000.00	Madison	$10,000.00	Chase

A set of this new currency, consisting of one each of the $10.00, $5.00, $2.00 and $1.00 bills is now on display at the Citizens National Bank and we cordially invite the public to visit this exhibit of the New Currency at our bank and see the new designs and sizes. This set of the new currency is for exhibition only, and distribution will not be made until some time in July.

This currency is considerably smaller in size than the old currency but of course is worth one hundred cents on the dollar. By the use of the smaller bills the government will save millions annually in paper and ink.

AMARILLO'S CIVIC CONSCIOUSNESS

BUILDING YOUNG TEXANS INTO AMERICAN PATRIOTS

"The hope of civilization is respect for vested authority. We would teach this respect thru the symbol of the flag."—Mayor Ernest O. Thompson.

Amarillo, the Helium City of the Texas Panhandle, is committed by its new mayor to the highest standards of citizenship. It would rid itself of bootleggers, end professional gambling and tone up its morals. It would also teach respect for vested authority, through the symbol of the flag in the public schools.

Thirty years ago Col. Ernest O. Thompson was selling papers on the streets of Amarillo. He made a brilliant war record. Today he owns two hotels with a thousand rooms in his home city, and other hotels and investments in and out of Amarillo. In the campaign for mayor, against three opponents he received 75 per cent of the votes.

Paul V. McNutt, national commander of the American Legion, came to Amarillo to assist at the inauguration. In the ceremony he presented the new mayor with a silken flag in the name of the Legion.

The presentation planted an idea in Mayor Thompson's mind. It is so far-reaching and powerful in the possibilities for building good citizenship that some men of national standing who have heard of it are ready to give the means that will carry it into every part of the country. The American Legion will have its share in the work. The newspapers will participate.

The aim is to teach greater respect for the flag in the public schools. Thompson plans to start it in his home town. A flag will be prepared for presentation to each school room. The newspapers will run a series of questions and answers that will make up a thrilling history of the flag. Every star and every stripe will have its story painted against a background of fascinating human interest. The imagination of the mind of youth will be appealed to.

The honor pupil in each room who makes the best study will receive a flag for his class. It will belong to the room forever. Flag presentation day will be a gala event. Hundreds of honor pupils will bank themselves on the stage of the City Auditorium as they receive the classroom trophy.

"The great purpose of the flag study is to foster a love of country and a sacred regard for law," says Mayor Thompson. "I have set the example for the city by pledging to do all in my power to rid Amarillo of bootleggers, end professional gambling and tone up the city's morals. I and then the ladies adjourned to the kitchen to pack boxes of home made candy as gifts for those members of the high school graduating class who attend services at the Presbyterian church. These boxes were delivered to the graduates by Mrs. John Muse, social service secretary of the Auxiliary.

DR. JOHN DENSON TO PRESENT
AWARDS FOR THE AMERICAN LEGION

The American Legion Scholarship Awards were made at the commencement exercises of the Ada Henderson School in the Ada Henderson Auditorium at ten o'clock Wednesday morning, June 5. The awards were bronze medals and were presented to the most outstanding boy and girl in the grammar grades by Dr. John Denson.

The winners of the awards have been announced by the Legion Committee, Teachers Committee of the Ada Henderson School and the student body of the school. The winners are as follows:

Boy—Julian Freeman.
Girl—Louise Owens.

Buck Price and Ray Burke received honorable mention among the boys and Jane Tyson and Madie Watson received mention among the girls. The awards were made on the basis of twenty per cent for each of the following qualities:

"Honor: Strength and stability of character, high standards of conduct, keen sense of what is right, adherence to truth and conscience devotion to duty and practice of clean speech."

"Courage: Bravery in the face of opposition and danger, and grit to stand up for the right and do one's duty."

"Scholarship: Scholastic attainment, evidence of industry and application in studies."

"Service: Kindness, unselfishness, fellowship, protection of the weak and promotion of the interests and welfare of associates without hope of personal reward."

"Leadership: Ability to lead and to accomplish through group action."

BAPTIST W. M. S.

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Baptist church met at the church Monday afternoon at four o'clock for a business session. The president, Miss Clara Thomas, presided at the meeting and also conducted a short devotional. Committee reports were heard. Personal service chairman was assigned special work for June as follows: Eunice Taylor Glass Circle, hospitals and the shut-ins; Lillie Mae Hundley Circle, new members; Lottie Moon Circle, sick. The Benevolent and Aid committee reported a box of linens sent to the Baptist Hospital at Waco valued at $9.55. They also reported a quilt pieced by Miss Hattie Lake and quilted by members of the W. M. S.

for Buckner Orphan's Home, valued at $6.00.

There were 8 members present from Eunice Taylor Glass Circle, 9 from Lillie Mae Hundley, and 9 from Lottie Moon. One visitor, Mrs. E. D. King of Bronson was also present.

ROCKDALE FARMERS INTERESTED IN MILK

ANNUAL PROGRAM TO INCLUDE FIREWORKS, HORSE RACES AND BASEBALL

Fireworks, horse races, baseball games, and a comedy fire drill are the headliners in the Fourth of July Celebration to be staged by Carlisle Post No. 358, American Legion in Rockdale on Thursday, July 4, according to advance announcements made by members of the Legion Post this week. These celebrations are annual events of the local American Legion.

The arrangement of the program for this year has been under consideration for some time and the tentative program was announced this week. It is understood that work will begin in the near future on preparation of the fair grounds and race track for the celebration.

The program at this time calls for a comedy fire drill by the local fire department, and a street parade in the morning. Prizes, to be announced later, will be offered to the best entries in the parade. Band music will be furnished throughout the day by Moulton Legion Band of Moulton, Texas, the same band that was secured for the celebration last year, and a band that is recognized as one of the outstanding musical organizations of the state.

In the afternoon three horse races will be held, with attractive purses in each event. A baseball game will also be included in the afternoon's program, the teams yet to be announced.

As a concluding feature of the day the Legion has arranged for a fireworks display that they declare will be one of the best ever seen in Rockdale. A dance at the fair park pavilion in the evening will constitute the grand finale to the day's program.

With a reputation for always being an entertainment de luxe, the local American Legion celebrations each year have drawn large crowds to Rockdale. Officials state that they are preparing a program for this year that they believe will surpass anything given in the past. Further announcements will be made at a later date.—Rockdale Reporter.

WHAT WE THINK

By FRANK DIXON

Some of our good farmer friends, who, notwithstanding the reverses they have suffered the past few years still have a keen sense of humor, have made a few suggestions to us regarding this "farm relief" problem which is to be taken up by Congress in special session.

No. 1. No farmer can be a happy, successful farmer who is in debt. The first job of the Government should be that of getting every farmer out of debt. He shouldn't have anything to "worry him" and if the Government will just cancel a few of those "junket trips," the account will be about even.

No. 2. No farmer's wife can be happy not to have the modern conveniences of her sister who lives in the city. These cold wintry blasts of the midnight carrying a lantern, wouldn't make anybody happy. Let the Government build a modern home on every farm, equipped with every modern convenience, electric washing machine, electric churn, electric ice box, electric mangle, electric iron, electric hair curler, etc.

No. 3. No farmer can be a successful farmer without an up-to-date radio to get the market reports and baseball scores. The Government should standardize on some radio equipment and see that every farmer is furnished with one of them and an inspector to see to it that they are kept in perfect working order—keep his batteries charged at "no charge."

No. 4. No farm home is going to be complete without a modern Victrola so the young folk can have their "Jazz." If you expect to keep the young folks in the farm, you have to entertain them. So let the Government see to it that every home has an up-to-date Orthoponic Victrola and a selection of say 200 records, and insist on furnishing one each of the following records: "America," "Star Spangled Banner," "Nearer My God to Thee," "Silver Threads Among the Gold," and the balance Jazz. Just listened to a new one the other night, "Kiss Me for an Hour and See if I Will Scream." They say that everything is in the name you give a song. It ought to be.

No. 5. The farmer's home should have plenty of spacious room for dancing and church socials with spare bedrooms and sleeping porches and "cold rooms," air tight and sound proof.

No. 6. And then the barn should be equipped with the latest equipment for the efficient care of stock. Equipped with electric lights, electric hay forks, electric manure trams, hot and cold water and all that goes to make a modern barn. The Government should see to it that every farm is equipped with one of these barns and then every farm should have a shed for tools with a blacksmith shop and repair shop in addition to a milk house with electric separator, frigid air plant, etc.

No. 7. And then again, let's make our farms modern with the use of trucks, tractors and automobiles and have a sufficient number of them to do it right. Every farmer should have one big sedan and sufficient small cars for every member of the family. Possibly the Government might be able to make a contract with our "antique collector" friend who has practically all of the money of the world in his corn crib, to fully equip every farm on a "standard" basis. He has them pretty good near standardized already and it wouldn't cost the Government much more.

No. 8. And then again, the farmer's daughter does not have the advantages of the city girl. Therefore, every farmer's daughter should be an heiress. Let the Government settle a good legacy on each farmer's daughter and then watch these "hatless, sleek-haired, cigarette pushing sheiks" from the city go after one of these heiresses. The only thing she will have to do is to learn the manly art of self defense.

No. 9. And then if the Government does all of this for the farmer let the Government protect the farmer from the flood of shyster promoters who make life miserable for them. The flood of waters hasn't done one one-hundredth of the damage to the farmers that the flood of shyster promoters has, selling swamp lands, sand dunes, the Brooklyn Bridge and the State House Dome to our good farmer friends.

Understand that a couple of weeks ago one of "them slickers" caught a good farmer from Iowa in Los Angeles and sold him the flowers in the city parks for $500 and then when the farmer started cutting the flowers to market, the police interfered.

No. 10. And then again, make it compulsory for any farmer wanting to borrow money to have the personal endorsement of the Senator from his district who will be responsible for the note if the farmer does not pay it.

No. 11. And then establish a minimum of prices for the farm product which will enable them to amass fortunes the same as the undertakers and barbers do. Establish a minimum price of $3.00 a bushel for wheat and 25c a loaf for bread, $5 a bushel or $6.00 a quart for rye, a price of $2.00 a bushel or $4.00 a quart for corn, and so on, far into the night.

No. 12. Let these darned city dudes pay the price they should for the farmers' product and then watch this

"back to the farm" movement.

No. 13. If the coming session of Congress will just take these suggestions this may be about the last letter you will get from the writer. Just watch me buy a farm fully equipped with White Leghorn cows, Duroc chickens, those Yellow Jersey Pigs, and Shorthorn sheep. Will raise suet and bologna by the bushel and Rocky Mountain Oysters by the quart.

No. 14. As I have said before, let the Government establish the price. The orange and lemon grower and the potato growers let thousands of bushels rot on the ground so as to maintain the price. Why shouldn't the Government give the farmer this same protection? If the merchants or they are investigated by the Federal manufacturers make the same price Trade Commission. They ought to be. They shouldn't be in that business. They should be farmers.

No. 15. If the government is going to give a real farm relief, let them be real sports and not be picayunish about it. Treat the farmer right and in such a manner that he will be proud of his government.

No. 16. Write or telegraph your Congressman immediately giving him these suggestions and every farm in the United States will be occupied within 30 days. In the meantime though, send me your ideas care of the editor. We must get together before we die apart.

Pupils Roberta Warren In Dance Revue Saturday Evening

Pupils of Miss Roberta Warren were presented in a dancing revue at the Yoe High School Auditorium Saturday evening, June 1, at eight o'clock. Assisting artists were Misses Katherine Murphy, Johnibel Spencer and Margaret Warren of Waco.

The program was divided into three parts. An Indian group and a Spanish group composed the first part. In the Indian dance were Patsy McGregor, Katherine Monroe, Theresa Manning, Ruth Hobson and Lucille McDermott; and comprising the Spanish half were two dances by the Waco visitors, "La Peternas" by Miss Katherine Murphy and "La Jota" by Misses Johnibel Spencer and Margaret Warren.

The next part of the program was as follows:

Songs, Elizabeth Mangum.
Dance of the Paper Dolls, Madelon Zidell, Rosemary Bennet, Lucille McDermott.

Wobbly Walk, Lucille McDermott, Clarabel McClain.

Good News, Patsy McGregor, Katherine Monroe, Theresa Manning, Ruth Hobson.

Dainty Cupid, Katherine Murphy, Johnibel Spencer, Margaret Warren, Carolina Moon, Lucille McDermott.

Introducing the third division of the program was a Rube Dance by Misses Margaret Warren and Johnibel Spencer, and this was followed by the following numbers:

Rag Doll, Velma Newton.

Broadway Melody, Dorcas Batte.

I Can't Give You Anything but Love, Baby, Patsy McGregor, Katherine Monroe, Theresa Manning, Ruth Hobson.

Precious Little Thing Called Love, Herbert Freeman.

Wedding of the Painted Doll, Katherine White.

ANN RUTH JOHNSON OF GIDDINGS BECOMES BRIDE OF LELAND DENSON OF CAMERON ON MONDAY MORNING

The wedding of Dr. Leland Denson and Miss Ann Ruth Johnson of Giddings was solemnized Monday morning, June 3, at 10:30 o'clock at the First Presbyterian church at Giddings, with Dr. Jacobs of Austin performing the ring ceremony.

The altar at the church was massed with palms and ferns, and interspersed among them were baskets of pink roses, the colors chosen by the bride being pink and azure blue.

Preceding the entrance of the bridal party, a short musical program was rendered consisting of a violin solo, "At Dawning" and a vocal solo, "Until I Am Called to the Master Above," accompanied with organ and violin. The mother of the bride, Mrs. J. Johnson, played the wedding processional and recessional and the accompaniments for the soloists.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attended by her three sisters as matron-of-honor, maid-of-honor, and bridesmaid. She was gowned in azure blue crepe chiffon, blue satin slippers and pink horsehair braid hat, and she carried a shower bouquet of pink roses and lilies-of-the-valley. Her nephew was ring bearer and her niece flower girl. Her attendants all wore dresses of azure blue, and those of the musical party were dressed in the contrasting pink.

Dr. Denson was accompanied by his brother, Lane Denson, as best man, and ushers were Dr. Harlan of Kings Daughters Hospital, Temple, and a brother of the bride. The men of the wedding party wore white linen suits black ties and black shoes.

Following the ceremony, the bride and groom left for points in South Texas and will be at home at Temple after July 1.

Mrs. Denson is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John Johnson of Giddings. After being graduated from the College of Industrial Arts at Denton, she attended the University of Texas for one year, where she was assistant athletic director for women. For the past two years she has been in Houston acting as athletic director at the Y. W. C. A.

Dr. Denson, the son of Dr. and Mrs. John Denson, was reared in Cameron. He graduated from the State Medical School at Galveston, and since that time has been associated with Kings Daughters Hospital at Temple.

Dora Emily Moore Entertains Seniors At Farewell Party

A farewell courtesy for the members of the senior class was tendered Wednesday evening following the commencement exercises, with Miss Dora Emily Moore hostess at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George T. Moore. It was a smartly appointed affair in every detail, with gay Japanese lanterns on the lawn and the porch extending a bright welcome, and with the rooms inside decorated profusely with flowers in the chosen class colors, purple and gold.

Girls of the junior class assisted in entertaining. Misses Cora Bar-more and Nancy Rae Slocomb presided over the guest book in a room which was a bower of shasta daisies. Misses Velma Newton and Estelle Turney served punch on the porch, and assisting in the dining room were Misses Mary McDermott, Bonnelle Neinst, Frances Sharpe and Dorothy Joynes.

The table in the dining room was centered with a mound of purple and gold flowers and around these were four brass candlesticks holding lighted golden tapers. An inverted parasol of gold cloth was fastened under the chandelier, and this had the appearance of a large gold dome. The guests were served brick ice cream in lavender and gold and cakes iced in gold. Favors were miniature diplomas tied with ribbon in the chosen colors.

Later in the evening dancing was a diversion.

Radio Program For Bride and Groom On Monday Morning

As a courtesy to his life-long friend, Leland Denson, and to the latter's bride, the former Miss Ann Ruth Johnson of Giddings, Robert S. Pool gave a program over radio station WFAA Monday morning at eight o'clock and dedicated it to the couple, who were married that morning two hours later.

Mr. Pool sang three bridal songs: "At Dawning," "Oh, 'Tis Not Because Your Heart Is Mine," and "Oh Perfect Love." At the conclusion of the last one, the accompanist went immediately into the wedding march and played a few short strains of it. Then the announcer of station WFAA, reading for Mr. Pool, gave a poem in which was expressed his good wish for the happiness of the bride and groom.

The following people from Cameron attended a district convention of the Christian church held at Temple Tuesday: Mrs. Martin Kilian and daughter, Frances, Mrs. Guy Slocomb, Mrs. Ray Burke and Ray Jr., Mrs. Raymond Beard, Mr. V. P. Woolley and Rev. Clyde Yarbrough.

Excursions For Big Pulchritude Fest In Galveston June 8-12

Scores of excursions are being planned into Galveston for the Tenth Annual International Pageant of Pulchritude which will be held in that city June 8-12, 1929.

Galveston has planned a very extensive program for the visitors to the International Pageant of Pulchritude. This year there will be entries from England, Germany, Roumania, Luxembourg, France, Austria, Spain, Holland, Cuba, Mexico and Brazil, as well as from a score or more of the larger cities throughout the United States.

On Saturday, June 8th at 5:00 P. M., the contestants will appear on miniature decorated floats. Sport clothes or afternoon frocks will be worn and on June 9 at 3:00 P. M., contestants will appear in fancy bathing costumes on Galveston's Famous Boulevard. On Monday June 10, the elimination contest for the selection of Miss United States will be held at the City Auditorium at 8:00 P. M. On June 11 at the City Auditorium Miss United States will compete with all foreign countries for the title of Miss Universe. Contestants, on this night, will appear in evening and bathing costumes.

The Santa Fe has announced very low rates from all points on its lines in Texas and will operate a special train leaving Cameron at 2:45 A. M., Sunday morning June 9th, arriving in Galveston at 8:00 A. M., returning leave Galveston 8:00 P. M., Sunday night. The round trip fare from Cameron will be $4.00.

W. L. LAWRENCE

Funeral services for W. L. Lawrence, whose body arrived in Cameron over the Santa Fe from Oklahoma City Friday afternoon, were held Saturday morning at nine o'clock from the Presbyterian church with Rev. J. P. Love, officiating. The deceased was a brother of C. W. Lawrence of Cameron.

Interment was in the Milano Cemetery. Pall bearers were Dr. James Watson, Preston Graves, R. H. McIntosh, Robert McLane, Ernest Egert, Judge John Watson, Graham Gillis and John Williams.

Mr. Lawrence is survived by five children, two sons and three daughters.
